No Bodily Harm May Be Tar-Feathers Case Argument

Betty Allen, nearest camera; her mother, Mrs. Ethel Allen, partly behind her, and an unidentified friend on way to court in Calgary.

CALGARY (CP)—The argument that no actual bodily harm was occasioned Nurse Alice Knowles in the assault allegedly committed on her on the evening of July 18 by Mrs. Ethel Allen and Miss Betty Allen may be advanced by J. McKinley Cameron, K.C., counsel for the defence,
when hearing of the charge reopens on August 10.

The second was James Young, assistant city chemist, who presented an analysis of the material found in stains on the clothing and compared it with the can of roofing paint submitted to him
by police for examination.

Magistrate D. Cameron Sinclair did not think he should send the accused to a higher court for trial, but would proceed with the case and would call Mr. Cameron to present a defence.

He had not his evidence sufficiently prepared to go on with the defence immediately, Mr. Cameron told the court. He also intended to call expert witnesses and he desired time to review this phase of the case.

Telford Flays Legionnaires for Backing Foster

Says B.C. Members
Talking Through Hats
On Police Charges

Not Personal Fight

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor
Lyle Telford said today delegates to the convention of the British Columbia command of the Canadian Legion at Kamloops "didn't know what they were talking about" when they passed a resolution expressing "intense resentment" at the action of the mayor in connection with charges he has made against Brigadier W. W.
Foster, chief of the Vancouver police department.

The resolution, passed yesterday by the convention, expressed support for Brigadier Foster, Dominion president of the Legion.

Commenting on the action,
Mayor Telford said:

"I think it would have been highly advisable for the Legion to withhold its resolution until the investigation is over. The Legion is talking through its hat—they don't know anything about this.
They are sticking their necks out and will end up by becoming thoroughly embroiled."

Mayor Telford has announced
he will lay specific charges against Brigadier Foster, concerning the chief's administration, sometime this week. The police commission will hear the charges
at a public inquiry here Monday.

"There has been a good deal of misunderstanding about this," Mayor Telford said. "This isn't a personal matter between the chief constable and myself. It concerns the way the department has been conducted and as head of the department Brigadier Foster bears the brunt."

The mayor announced that his charges against the chief would be in the hands of Brig.-General
J. A. Clark, legal adviser to Brigadier Foster, today. He declined to discuss the charges in detail with interviewers.

$20,000 Loss In Incendiary Fire

Flames Destroy Ground Wood Pulp Mill of Sidney Roofing Co.; Spurs Firebug Search

Authorities investigating the spectacular fire which early this morning completely gutted the groundwood pulp mill of the Sidney Roofing Company plant on the Industrial Reserve said today it was caused by incendiaryism.

An unofficial estimate of the loss placed it around $20,000, about three-quarters of the amount being covered by insurance.

Fire Chief Alex Munro said
he was convinced the blaze was set by a firebug.

This section of the company's plant has not been in operation for some time, being on a summer shutdown, and there appeared no plausible cause for the fire other than incendiaryism. It was the only part of the plant not included in the sprinkler system.

Standing on the harbor front, the plant adjoins the property of the Canadian Western Co-operative, where a smoke stack burns at all times. Sparks from this stack might have caused the blaze had it not been for the fact the high southwest wind blowing at the time blew the sparks away from the pulp plant.

The fire was started on the windward side of the plant and reduced it to ruins within an hour and half.

The first call to the fire was received at 1.16 this morning. All equipment from headquarters and the Yates Street fire hall responded. Fourteen firemen off shift were called in for duty.

MACHINERY LOST

Destruction of machinery housed in the building constituted the major part of the loss. A 500-horsepower motor and grinder, a 50-horsepower motor, screens, pumps and a wet machine were included, along with about 50 tons of pulp.

The Vancouver Police Federal Association has been called for tonight to discuss Mayor Telford's charges.

Fanned by the high wind which swept across the harbor the fire made a spectacular sight and attracted 300 or 400 persons who saw the red glow in the sky from a considerable distance away.

Fire Chief Alex Munro and Deputy Chiefs Robert Taylor and Joe Raymond directed the fighting which was made difficult by the fact sparks kept starting smaller fires in the vicinity which threatened to spread and engulf
the entire plant.

Adding to the spectacle of the blaze was a series of explosions in large metal barrels stored outside the building. These barrels, which had contained paint and other inflammable materials, were empty but air pressure created by the heat caused the explosions. About 100 of them were stacked outside the building.

Another barrel, half filled with lubricating oil exploded inside the building. B.C. Electric linemen were called out to cut power lines from the plant to prevent spread of the fire by that means.

The belief that the firebug had started the blaze pressed authorities to speed their search for the pyromaniac who is now blamed for over $50,000 property loss in fires in the city. This amount includes the Sidney Lumber Company and sundry other blazes with smaller losses within recent weeks.

It was the second occasion on which the firebug had directed his efforts towards real property damage within the last four days.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT

On the first he was unsuccessful, however, when the fire which he started burned itself out.

It was as a result of this attempt that they reiterated their warning to citizens to maintain their vigilance and alertness and report all movements of suspicious persons.

Ferry Strike Is Deadlocked

Black Ball Head
Files $100,000
Libel Against Union

SEATTLE (AP) — Captain
Alex M. Peabody and the Puget Sound Navigation Company heads today filed a $100,000 libel complaint against the Inland Boatmen's Union, its strike negotiating committee and the Seattle Labor Industrial Council (CIO).
In connection with the union's strike and labor controversy with his ferry lines.

The complaint stated the union accused him yesterday of attempting to influence the strike vote started by the union last Saturday and canceled later.

The ferry users committee, an organization of ferry commuters met today to outline plans to force a settlement of the strike and the union resumed conferences with Capt. Peabody and federal mediator W. T. Geurts, although none of the parties indicated any hope of a strike settlement by the week end.

The strike, its third day, is over union demands for a $5 weekly wage increase for unlicensed personnel; and a week's vacation with pay; establishment of the seniority rule and dismissal pay, and elimination of the three-fourths wage scale in favor of a guarantee of full wages for full time employees.

The union today released the ferry Bainbridge for one round trip daily between Anacortes and San Juan Island points, as a favor to island farmers who faced inability to market their crops.

About 30 Vashon Island residents continued their sit-down strike aboard the ferry Elwha, tied up at Harper, as part of a protest against service interruption. Private craft carried many Bainbridge Island commuters to and from Seattle.

Peabody issued a statement after today's conference that:
"The company is willing to resume operations of all ferries at once under the terms of the contract just expired. Should the union reject this proposal, we will be forced to announce wage reductions tomorrow."

His libel complaint stated union officers had threatened to "smash" his company although it might mean smashing the union, too.

Chamberlain Warns Japan to Respect Rights

Says Events Might Cause Britain to Send A Fleet to Far East

Prefers Negotiations

LONDON (CP)—Parliament adjourned today for two months after hearing Prime Minister Chamberlain warn Japan that Great Britain might find it necessary "in certain circumstances" to send a fleet to the Far East.

The Prime Minister, in one of the firmest declarations he has made on Anglo-Japanese difficulties, said he hoped no one would think "it absolutely out of the question for such circumstances to arise."

"I do not say that as a threat,"
he added, "but only as a warning."

Mr. Chamberlain's speech was made against the background of news from Italy that Japan's closer adherence to the Rome-Berlin axis was under discussion by the Japanese ambassadors to the axis powers.

The House of Commons concluded its session at 4 p.m. The House of Lords had adjourned a little earlier. Parliament will re-assemble October 3 unless an emergency should cut short the vacation.

Mr. Chamberlain indicated Britain might have sent warships to the Far East earlier if it had not been for the critical European situation.

"Let us not forget that we have graver and nearer problems to consider in the course of the next few months," he declared, "and we must conserve our forces to meet any emergency that may arise."

"At the present moment we have not got in the Far East a fleet superior to that of the Japanese. We have such a fleet here."

(Britain normally maintains in Far Eastern waters only her China squadron, which includes cruisers but no capital ships.
Britain has, however, built a great naval base at Singapore, two or three days' steaming from the China coast, capable of basing and repairing the largest battleships.)

(Last April 15 President Roosevelt ordered the United States fleet back to the Pacific coast after several months in Atlantic waters.)

BY DISCUSSION

"At the same time," he said,
"we would much rather settle our differences with the Japanese by discussion and negotiation, provided we can do so without sacrificing what we conceive to be fundamental considerations and principles, than to do it by threats of force."

He said the use of force would imperil British subjects in Japanese-controlled areas of China and this had been taken into consideration.

"Even if we determined tomorrow that we were going to the last extremity we could not perhaps protect those people—we certainly could not protect many of them," he continued.

"I do feel we have a duty to them that we ought to bear in mind and that we ought not, if we can avoid it, put them in greater peril than that in which they now stand."

(About 20,000 British subjects are resident in China, nearly all in Japanese-occupied territory. In addition about 20,000 Britons live in the crown colony of Hongkong, off the south China coast.)

No B.C. Aid for Doukhobors Promised

Attorney-General Gordon Wis-mer denied today a report attributed to him that the government would eventually arrange some compromise enabling the Doukhobors, in the Kootenay area to remain in their homes and that the government might put up cash to satisfy the Sun Life Assurance Company that is seeking to foreclose on a mortgage.

The Attorney-General said he had given no such intimation.
"I feel that it is of importance that both the Doukhobors and the company should not get a false impression of the attitude of the government. The government is naturally anxious to cooperate in a settlement between the parties but has given no assurance of financial assistance," he said.

Counsel Argue On Gas Injunction

Senator Farris Claims Order Against Price Cut Still Stands

The injunction, granted by Mr.
Justice Manson to oil companies in the province, restraining the Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board from cutting the price of gasoline was not annulled until the judgment of the Court of Appeal declaring legislation covering the point involved was formally entered, Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., chief counsel for the oil companies declared today.

His statement was made before Chief Justice Archer Martin in Court of Appeal Chambers as he sought continuation of the price-cutting injunction and delay in formal entry of the judgment pending the outcome of his appeal on the act, to the Supreme Court of Canada.

At some length the Senator presented argument to continue the injunction.

"The same reasons would prompt Your Lordship to preserve the status quo until the appeal reaches Ottawa as did before it reached this court," he declared, stating his argument was much stronger for the Supreme Court of Canada than it had been before the highest court in this province. Judgment had been given against the oil companies by the Court of Appeal "not without hesitation," he said and subsequent developments, he contended, made his position stronger.

Hon. G. S. Wismer, K.C., Attorney-General, opposing continuation of the injunction, opened his case just before the luncheon adjournment.

He declared Senator Farris had been talking outside the issue.
The questions before the court were: Is the law valid and did the board have power to exercise the order?

He charged the Senator with seeking delay at a cost of $5,000
a day to the consuming public through injunction proceedings.
The companies, he said, had put $1,000,000 into their pockets through similar action. He attacked Senator Farris for taking the case to the Supreme Court of Canada instead of direct to the Privy Council, contending the appeal would eventually go to the latter, but that the oil companies, through delay, sought to continue preventing the application of the price-cutting order.

The loss was just as irretrievable to the public as to the oil companies, he said. The technical fact that the judgment had not been formally entered was immaterial. Judgment had been delivered, he said.

JURISDICTION QUESTIONED

The Attorney-General submitted the Chief Justice could make no order at the present time. The board could not be restrained from doing something it had already accomplished. If the ruling were to be attacked it would have to be through a new action, not in connection with the appeal, he claimed.

Senator Farris opened the application with a summary of events leading up to it. The validity of the act was not definite and would not be until after the appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, he claimed.

The price-cutting order was "a vexatious and discouraging proceeding," he continued. He noted the original price-fixing order had been withdrawn during the time of the appeal and evidence regarding the intention of the act had been ruled out on that score.

He cited a report by Price-Waterhouse to the effect the oil companies had been losing $750,000 a year just prior to the appeal and stated the condition was no better at present. The order, he added would inflict a loss on oil companies of B.C. of $1,500,000 a year.

"Governments in Canada seem to be so immune to deficits they probably do not realize what a deficit of $1,500,000 a year would mean to private interests," he suggested.

HITS OUTSIDE PROVINCE

"The three-cent reduction is here and the burden is explicitly on the companies," he declared
as he sought to show it affected the industry as an integrated whole, beyond its provincial confines.

The Senator cited that argument in support of the strength of his appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, scheduled to come on October 10.

"My argument is much stronger for Ottawa than it was here because my learned friend, in his impatience to get at the oil companies, proceeded with the second order," he declared.

"The action of the government since (the Court of Appeal judgment) has betrayed what they really have in mind," he declared.

"When they make an order like this they are not trying to be just and equitable—it's pure confiscation," he claimed, referring to the manner in which the retail agencies had been protected and the cut passed directly to the companies.

He had, he said, thought seriously of seeking a rehearing of the case before the Court of Appeal on the grounds new evidence was available.

"If companies were purely local, the order would be unbelievable. There is only one explanation," he stated, saying the government had adopted the position the traffic would bear the cut because the traffic extended over all of the North American continent as an integrated whole. The cut order was intended to impose the burden on local activity with the knowledge it could not be borne locally, but by the oil industry in its wider form, he said.

COMPARATIVE PRICES

He quoted the comparative basic prices of gasoline in Vancouver, if the order was executed, saying the Terminal City would have the lowest on the coast, six-tenths of a cent below Los Angeles and more than two cents under Seattle.

He quoted from his recent address to the Canadian Bar Association regarding the powers of government and the courts, remarking it was necessary at times to appeal to the courts against the actions of a "rapacious government."

Senator Farris remarked: "The question is one of doubt and discretion. I might make an application to the Supreme Court of Canada to set aside this order. If it comes in it will mean that Vancouver prices will be 6/10 of a cent lower than in Los Angeles, where the oil wells are. It will be more than a cent less than in San Francisco, almost 2 cents lower than in Seattle and more than 3 cents lower than in Spe-kane."

"The Imperial Oil Co. itself will lose $390,000 annually."

"Parliament is the instrument
by which our liberties are secured, but that same body can take them away and the only bulwark against rapacious governments is the courts," he concluded.

The action is continuing this afternoon. J. P. Hogg is assisting the Attorney-General. With Senator Farris for the companies is R. Symes. Also attending is E. H. Ellis.

Fire Threatens Homes in Luxton

Dallimore House Destroyed and Two Others
In Paths of Flames

After destroying one home, fire was reaching out its fingers to snatch up two other residences on the Happy Valley Road near the Baker sawmill this afternoon.
Gangs of firefighters under Fire Warden W. Alsivorf were trying to head off the blaze, which was roaring through the broom.

Just at noon the old Dallimore home, which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Reid, took fire and, despite efforts by neighbors, was completely destroyed inside of an hour. Most of the furniture was saved.

Sparks were carried high and far by the breeze, and soon after the Dallimore fire was under control a new outbreak was reported across the road. It spread rapidly among the broom and grass and the firefighters were sent to head off the flames from the two residences of Victor Connor and Mrs. J. Carnegie.

Hopes, Dangers Surveyed On 25th War Anniversary

Twenty-five years ago . . . German soldiers, bayonets fixed, without gas masks, followed by warriors on bicycles, charge across open ground in mass formation, typifying the warfare of the last World War.

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON — Twenty-five years after the "war to end all wars" plunged the world into a conflict which cost millions of lives,
Europe today is an armed camp.

Every factor necessary for war is present and every few of the real essentials for peace.

On the anniversary of that day,
Aug. 4, 1914, when "the lights went out across Europe," the situation perhaps may be described best in these words: War in Europe is inevitable unless Germany—and that means Hitler
—exhibits some moderating change in policy. It is almost inconceivable things can go along as they are without producing war.

It is impossible to support the view that peace, real peace, exists today. The next few months, perhaps weeks, will tell the story and the decision, as far as it rests on one man, will be made by Adolf Hitler, who 25-years ago was unknown even in his native Austria.

There are several factors which monthly grow more important in swinging Europe away from war and their cumulative effect may be decisive. One is Britain's expanding might in the air, on the land and on the sea. Another is the determination of European nations to club together. A third is the internal solidarity of France.

GENERALS WARN HITLER

Finally, there is evidence Hitler is beginning to realize he cannot repeat his Austrian, Czech and Memel bloodless conquests without precipitating a general war in which Germany would be forced to fight on two frontiers—tactics which some military leaders of the Reich tell him would be fatal.

Europe has been operating for months on a purely negative policy, just drifting along. What Europe needs in the view of most observers is a long-range, comprehensive plan, positive in its nature and explicit in its terms, to bring about a reversal of today's condition—disarmament, economic and financial collaboration, a division of raw materials and markets and a solution of boundary and racial problems.

That is impossible in today's atmosphere of mutual suspicion, hatred, mendacity and constant agitation of racial passions.

Most newspapers in England noted the anniversary of Britain's declaration of war on Germany in 1914 following German refusal to comply with a 24-hour ultimatum to respect Belgium's neutrality.

They also emphasized Britain's present state of armament. During the year before the World War Britain spent $77,000,000 (currently $382,000,000) on military and naval preparations. Now she is spending that much every six weeks, or $730,000,000 ($3,516, 400,000) this year.

ARMY AND AIR FORCE

In the summer of 1914 she had 247,000 regulars in the army and around 500,000 reserves. Now, with a regular army of 208,000 plus reserves currently engaging in huge training exercises and new conscripts, Britain has around 1,000,000 men. The navy is about the same now as then.

The biggest difference is in the air force. In 1914 Britain had 822 men and 100 serviceable planes. Now she has 120,000 officers and men in the Royal Air Force plus 75,000 reserves. Although exact figures are not made public, the best estimates are that she has 2,300 first-line planes out of a total of 5,000 and is adding to these at the rate of 600 monthly.

Another big difference is the tremendous civil preparedness program now in effect with 2, 000,000 men and women enrolled and under constant training for police, fire and air raid precautions duty in the event of war.

Britain now has a full reserve fleet manned for manoeuvres.
The R.A.F., with more than 1,300 planes taking part, will stage practices next week and London will be included in a huge blackout test.

Typical of the British attitude today was the comment by the London Daily Mail that comparison of the 1914 with the 1939 state of preparedness "gives us reason for pride and for confidence that this time war may be averted."

AXIS MOVE IN AUGUST RUMORED

PARIS (CP-Havas) — Geneva Tabouis, foreign affairs commentator for L'Ouvrier (Radical-Socialist) reported today Chancellor Hitler and Premier

Mussolini had both ordered their key military aides to stand by for permanent emergency service beginning August 15. Claude Vivier, writing in L'Ordre (Rightist), similarly mentioned the 14th as a probable critical date. "In Paris," Vivier said, "competent circles appear to expect a German move which will oblige the French Government to take very extensive mobilization measures during the second fortnight of August.

Mme. Tabouis said she had word from foreign observers in Berlin that Field Marshall Hermann Goering, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Rudolf Hess, deputy party leader, and Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, had told their staffs Danzig could be in a military position by August 15 to move for return to Germany.

The Berlin correspondent of Le Figaro (Conservative) quoted travelers returning from Germany's Bohemia-Moravia protectorate as reporting vast fortification works and heavy troop concentrations under way there.

Bridge to Connect Danzig, East Prussia

DANZIG (AP) — Danzig authorities announced today a pontoon bridge which would provide the only bridge connection over the Vistula River between the Free City of Danzig and German East Prussia was completed and ready for installation.

Announcement of the new bridge follows a threat on Tuesday by Danzig Nazi leaders to ignore the established frontiers after a revival of the "herring and margarine war" between Poland and Danzig.

(The Polish press today discussed the possibility that Danzig Nazis were preparing forcibly to open the frontier between the Free City and East Prussia—a step in the direction of incorporation of Danzig in the Reich.) The bridge has not yet been put in place and authorities said they were not certain when it would be anchored. It will be entirely on Free State territory.

Nazi Tyranny Causes Chicago Suicide, Murders

Czech Refugee Mother Jumps to Death, Taking Two Children

Family Lost Business

CHICAGO (AP) — "Persecution" by the new German government of Czechoslovakia was blamed by a coroner's jury today for the plunge of a 43-year-old refugee mother and her two sons to their deaths from the 13th floor of the Congress Hotel here.

The jury, which heard the tragic testimony of the once wealthy husband and father, Karel Langer, 50, decided his wife, Adella, 43, "committed suicide while temporarily insane due to worry over being forced to leave her home in Czechoslovakia due to persecution."

Jan Misha, 4½, and Karel Tommy, 6, the sons, were victims of "murder committed while (the mother was) temporarily insane," the verdict read.

Mrs. Langer hurled the children and herself from a window of her hotel room to the sidewalk of busy Michigan Boulevard last night. The three bodies struck the sidewalk almost simultaneously, near several pedestrians.

Her distraught husband testified at an inquest today his wife constantly talked of taking her life "and taking the babies with her." She had been despondent since fleeing to the United States four weeks ago, he said, after being "more or less compelled to leave" their native land to find opportunities for the children.

Nervous and broken, the slight Jewish father unfolded through an interpreter, Attorney Otto Oplatka, a story of having been "practically forced" to sell his million-dollar business, "the largest textile and clothing manufacturing plant in Czechoslovakia, for a song."

Langer, his wife and the boys had a visa to Bolivia. They obtained a six-month visitors' pass to the United States and came to Chicago three weeks ago.

"We left our homeland because of our children," Langer said. "We hoped to find opportunities to give them a better life. Tyranny forced us to become refugees."

He said his wife was heartbroken at the thought of having to leave a brother and sister and other relatives abroad. This added to her worry over her boys' future, he said.

U.S. Maps Own Course in Orient

But Information Exchanged With Britain and Others

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sumner Welles, acting Secretary of State, said today the United States would map its own course in the Far East.

A few hours after Prime Minister Chamberlain had indicated Great Britain might find it necessary to send a fleet to the Far East, Mr. Welles declared there was no understanding between the United States and Great Britain for joint action in the Orient.

He added, however, that very frequent information was being exchanged with other governments on the Far East situation.

DIFFERENCES SEEN

LONDON (CP) — "Sometimes I hear members say, 'Why don't you do the same as United States does,'" said Prime Minister Chamberlain, addressing the Commons during the foreign affairs debate today. "It is hardly necessary for me to point to the fundamental difference between the United States and its isolation from Europe and this country."

"Even in the presence of those insults and injuries which have been inflicted upon British people in China by the Japanese we must remember there are limits to what we can do at this time to help our people there."

The Prime Minister paid a tribute to Sir Robert Craigie, ambassador to Japan, "who is carrying on at the present time with great skill, coolness and courage, negotiations in extraordinarily difficult circumstances"—the Tokyo conference on the Tientsin dispute.

Referring to opposition criticism of the formula agreed to by Britain July 22 as a basis for negotiation of the Tientsin dispute, Mr. Chamberlain said:

"At any rate this formula has enabled us to discuss the very difficult situation in Tientsin and in regard to some parts of the difficulties it does look as though we should not have any great difficulty in coming to an agreement with the Japanese."

"I say that deliberately because although it is no use coming to an agreement on one point if you cannot reach an agreement on others—because an agreement must be taken as a whole—it does show that those who are conducting these negotiations in Tokyo are by no means so extreme or unreasonable as we have found many of the Japanese in China itself."

Britain had made it perfectly clear, Mr. Chamberlain continued, that she was not prepared to settle with Japan alone questions of currency and Chinese silver in the British and French concessions in Tientsin because these were questions which concerned other powers.

The Prime Minister declared Britain had not gone back on her position regarding Japan's military action in China, but there was nothing in any obligation she had undertaken which bound her to denounce her commercial treaty with Japan.

(The United States denounced her commercial treaty with Japan July 26.)

Mr. Chamberlain said "no immediate effect would be produced" if Britain denounced her treaty. He added the Japanese-British treaty was accompanied by Japanese treaties with some of the Dominions and said it would be "outrageous on our part to shut our eyes to the effect denunciation of the treaty might have, and do anything about denunciation without first having full agreement of the Dominions."

He added his statement might give the impression that "I am determined that the trade treaty would not be denounced, but do not let anybody put that interpretation on my words."

ANGER AROUSED

He continued: "However our feelings may be exaggerated by things happening in the Far East, I can assure the House that I share fully the most violent feelings of anyone on that subject."

"It makes my blood boil to hear and read of some of the things happening there. However those emotions may be aroused in us, let us not forget the liabilities we have already assumed or the position of our fellow countrymen and countrywomen who are already on the spot."

"We shall endeavor in continuing negotiations to preserve to the utmost extent the principles which have hitherto governed our conduct there."

"We shall preserve to the utmost possible extent the interests and fortunes of British subjects there."

"We shall endeavor to show patience and to exercise reason-

Japan Drawn to Axis

Spokesman Says Tokio Being Forced Toward Military Alliance By British-U.S. Attitude

TOKIO (AP)—Japan is being forced toward a military alliance with Germany and Italy because of the United States abrogation of its Japanese trade treaty and British resistance on the north China currency question, a high government official said Friday.

Conclusion of a military pact may come at any moment, he said, but he professed ignorance of the meeting of the Japanese ambassadors to Italy and Germany, in progress at Villa d'Este, Italy.

The official first said "events" were forcing Japan into an arms alliance with the axis powers and then added that by "events" he meant the July 27 notice from Washington that the United States after six months would cancel the 1911 treaty, and Great Britain's stand on the currency question.

In talks designed to settle Anglo-Japanese differences at Tientsin the Japanese have insisted that Great Britain withdraw support from the central Chinese government currency, which the Japanese-sponsored north China regime has outlawed and is attempting to supplant with its own banknotes.

"Obviously," said this government source, "the two attitudes (United States and British) are connected. They indicate joint pressure on Japan whether the American and British governments actually are conferring or not."

"We have been confidentially informed that Washington fears war in Europe in September and the treaty abrogation was done on the spur of the moment in order to clear the way for military assistance to Britain and France while withholding war materials from Japan. As long as the treaty was in existence this would have been legally impossible."

He declared that "about 10 minutes after news of the abrogation was received in Tokio" the British attitude in the Tientsin conference changed. Before that time the talks had been progressing smoothly.

Japanese Bombers Damage Consulates

CHUNGKING (AP) — The French and German consulates here were damaged early Friday when Japanese warplanes raided the city.

Demolition bombs exploded in the compounds of the two consulates, shattering windows and splintering ceilings with fragments.

Ten Chinese were killed in the foreign area. They had left the strictly Chinese quarter of the city for supposed safety under the Swastika and tricolor.

The residence of F. Tillman, able moderation, recognizing that behind all these outrageous things there may be some genuine suspicion on the part of Japanese in China of our treatment of them."

American concern, the Texas Oil Company.

After destroying typewriters, calculators and all other movable equipment in the British company's office, the demonstrators climbed into trucks and drove away through Japanese-controlled territory.

The attack was made in the former Russian concession, across the river from the British concession, which has been under Japanese blockade since June 14.

Soon after the outbreak, Britons residing within the blockaded concession received threatening letters signed by "the Chinese Patriotic Youth Association." They were warned to quit Tientsin altogether since "the anti-British movement" may develop into direct action which the Chinese government will not be able to control.

Previous warnings have been largely to Chinese employees of British concerns and to some Britons residing outside the British concession.

BRITISH STUDY JAPANESE CHARGES

Evidence Against Four Chinese Held in Tientsin

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Chamberlain said in the House of Commons today on the question of handing over four alleged Chinese terrorists being held in the British concession in Tientsin, that Japanese had submitted evidence of the men's guilt and that this now was under consideration.

(The Anglo-Japanese dispute in the North China port originally was precipitated by British refusal to hand over the four Chinese to the Japanese who charged them with being responsible for the murder of a minor customs official.)

Philip Noel Baker, Labor, speaking in the foreign affairs debate which preceded adjournment of the House, said the object of the Japanese was "to drive westerners out of Asia."

The Labor Party, he said, was anxious about the negotiations in Tokio.

"Alliance of steel" is the term used in the Italian and German press to designate the military agreement signed last May.

Some foreign observers, however, express belief the meeting is a diplomatic feint.

ANTI-BRITISH RIOT IN TIENTSIN

Chinese Reported Directed By Japanese Wreck Company's Office

TIENTSIN (AP)—Anti-British violence broke out anew Friday when a mob of Chinese attacked offices of the British International Export Corporation, smashed furniture and other equipment and threw it into the Hai River. Britons said the attack was instigated by Japan.

British and Chinese employees of the corporation took refuge on the adjoining property of an

URGES INCREASED FOREST RESEARCH

Canadian Pulp Association Hears Advice Of Its Woods Expert

DUCHESNAY, Que. (CP)—Canada no longer can afford to be "lardy" in forest research, A. M. Koroleff of Montreal, forester of the woodlands section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, said in a paper read today at the section's summer meeting here.

"The pioneering stage in the use of forest resources in Canada was characterized by comparative simplicity and irresponsibility, but that period is over," said Mr. Koroleff.

"Our forest products are meeting with strong competition. In spite of its youth and perhaps immaturity, our forest management has to shoulder heavy responsibilities without delay."

Mr. Koroleff said the Canadian forest industry cannot now depend "upon the advantages that nature provided" to hold its world markets.

Competing countries had boosted production standards and at the same time cut down production costs by intensive research and "competition is keen now and probably will increase."

The three "particularly important requirements for economic sound exploitation of our forests in continuity," he said, were "research on efficiency and economy of logging, on silviculture and protection, and adequate financial governmental support of forest research."

Yesterday shortly after the opening of the three-day meeting which brought nearly 200 of the Dominion's leading lumber experts to Duchesnay forestry school, Mr. Koroleff mentioned the possibility of a survey of forestry research facilities throughout Canada as well as of research work now in progress.

WELLS HAS PRAISE FOR ROOSEVELT

British Author Calls U.S. President Great Man and Patrician

LONDON (CP)—H. G. Wells contends that the United States, guided by a "great man and patrician," Franklin D. Roosevelt, holds the clearest hope for the salvation of man through the development of a "world brain."

The 73-year-old novelist otherwise ponders gloomily on humanity in "The Fate of Homo Sapiens," his latest book, published yesterday.

He concludes that the world brain, the education of mankind through super-universities until it is fit for a democracy in which there would be real equality, economic justice, universal education and full knowledge for all those who desire it, is the only hope.

Crisis discovered "a great man in Franklin Roosevelt," he said.

As for the United States after Roosevelt, he wrote, "it is hard to guess what may happen when this abnormal phase of personal government by one inspired, insufficiently able man of genius comes to an end. There is no one to replace him and nothing to replace him. Nothing is being prepared."

The author said Roosevelt "none too soon" had carried "America forward to the second stage of democratic realization. His New Deal involves such collective controls of national business that it would be absurd to call it anything but Socialism were it not for the prejudice lingering on from the old individualist days against that word."

PAPERS URGED TO KEEP 'ISMS' OUT

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Canadian newspaper publishers must try to mould public opinion to keep "isms" out of Canada, Hon. William L. Houck, Ontario minister without portfolio, Liberal member of the Legislature for Niagara Falls and vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said in an address here yesterday.

Speaking before a dinner gathering of Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association members here for their 20th annual convention, Mr. Houck claimed the radio was putting out "far too much blarney from Europe."

He contrasted the "blustering of the dictators" with the "sincere and dignified manner" in which the King and Queen "won the hearts of all" during their visit to Canada. "In this day and age we are too prone to grasp at something new," he said, "but we are going to stick to democracy in Canada."

Canadian Business Men Visit Britain

LONDON (CP)—Sixteen leading Canadian industrialists, all of them members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, started talks here today for the purpose of developing co-operation between Canada, the British government and British industrialists in meeting the problems presented by the existing world situation.

They landed at Liverpool last night after voyaging across the Atlantic with the liner Empress of Britain.

Newspaper Guild Supports Roosevelt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The American Newspaper Guild was on record today as endorsing President Roosevelt and asking him to run for re-election. The vote on the resolution at the annual convention yesterday was 108 to 8. It came after a long discussion. Eight delegates, including Roger Irwin of Toronto, abstained from voting.

Another resolution adopted condemns "reactionary labor policies of the Associated Press."

Youth Employment

CANBERRA (CP-Reuters)—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies told newspapermen Thursday that the Australian government had agreed at a conference of state premiers to consider the question of the 44-hour week in connection with the employment of youth. The matter would be submitted for general examination by the states, he said.

BRIDGES CHARGES FORMER GOVERNOR

Says Merriam Given Campaign Fund for Calling Troops in Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Herry Bridges charged yesterday Frank F. Merriam, former California Governor, "got $30,000" for calling out the National Guard in the 1934 general strike here.

Bridges, alien West Coast Congress of Industrial Organizations leader, voiced the charge from the witness stand at his deportation hearing on Angel Island.

Thomas D. Shoemaker, chief of the United States government's counsel, asked him to elaborate. "Thirty thousand dollars was paid into his (Merriam's) campaign fund by the ship owners," Bridges replied.

During an elaboration of Bridges' philosophy of government, and of his viewpoints on employer-employee relationships, Shoemaker asked: "Do you think there would be any benefit in scrapping our form of government?"

"I do not at all," the witness replied. "Do you think the form of government existing in the Soviet Union would be any improvement?"

"I don't think the American form of government can be bettered anywhere else in the world," said Bridges.

Urges U.S. End Shipments to Japan

Senator Schwellenbach Asks Exporters Send No More War Supplies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach, Democrat, Washington State, urged that the administration, in the name of "morality," ask United States exporters to halt all shipments of war materials to Japan immediately.

In a Senate speech, he said that while it would be six months before the United States' trade treaty with Japan would terminate under the proclamation issued by State Secretary Hull, there should be no time wasted in severing all trade relationships with Japan, as a retaliation for her "ruthless and frightful campaign of conquest" in China.

An informal appeal to American shippers by Mr. Hull, he said, would result in an immediate slackening of trade with the Japanese.

"From the sense of morality," Schwellenbach said, "the American people demand this action." He added:

"Were it not for the assistance of the United States, Japan's Chinese campaign would probably have collapsed many months ago."

Five Newspapermen Jailed in France

PARIS (CP-Havas)—Five French newspapermen today faced prison terms for publishing articles "tending to diminish the authority of France."

The articles attacked "French imperialism and colonialism" and were printed in "Sia" ("Solidarite Internationale Anti-Fasciste").

Sentences of 18 months and fines of 500 francs (about $13) each were imposed yesterday on two of the men, Henri Jeanson and Robert Louzon. The others were sentenced to prison for two years and fined 1,000 francs each.

Jeanson was for a long time one of the principal editors of the satirical weekly Le Canard Enchaîné. He was recently fined 100 francs for writing justification of the assassination of Ernst von Rath, third secretary of the German embassy here, by Herschel Grynszpan, 17-year-old Polish Jew.

The organization which publishes "Sia" opposes Soviet communism as well as Fascism, and is destroyed as "Anarchistic and Trotskyist."

Girls Burned During Pageant

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Five girls were seriously burned last night when their thin gauze costumes caught fire as they danced in the closing scene of "Columbia Cavalcade," a pageant celebrating the state's golden jubilee.

A crowd of 7,000 watched in horror when the dancers suddenly were wrapped in fire. Three men had their hands burned when they attempted to beat out the flames.

At the hospital where they were taken attendants said the girls had suffered second degree burns.

STEFANSSON BACKS ICELANDIC CLAIMS

Noted Arctic Explorer Says They Discovered North America

NEW YORK (CP)—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted Canadian-born explorer, says it is "high time Canada and the United States discover the nation that discovered the mainland of North America."

The statement is part of the introduction to his new book—"Iceland, the First American Republic"—in which he traces the influence of Icelandic culture in the laws and life of present day America. He notes that Iceland was a republic as far back as 931 A.D.

Stefansson, who was born in Manitoba, of Iceland parents, disputes the Latin claim that while the Icelanders may have discovered North America they also forgot it. Papal documents, he says, make clear that Greenland falcons were shipped to Italy as late as 1396.

He also puts forward the theory that Columbus, who visited Iceland before he set sail westward, may have heard there of the Icelandic voyages to North America.

Stefansson has little enthusiasm for the belief that Lief Ericson's voyage in 1,000 A.D. was the first from Iceland to the new continent. He considers it possible that the Scandinavians, Basques and Irish, who were earlier settlers, may have preceded Ericson.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1939

1914-1939

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY THE bulletin boards of this and thousands of other newspapers throughout Canada and in many parts of the world were being scanned by millions of anxious people who were wondering what the war which had then begun in earnest would mean to them. It could not last long. Europe would flare up in a great blaze and in a few weeks, at the most a few months, it would all be over. Hostilities on such a vast scale would quickly be brought into subjection by the sheer force of economic pressure. So it seemed to many people. Time wore on. The fire had spread. It had gradually engulfed new combatants. And it was not until Kitchener ominously suggested the conflict might last three years that the world began to realize the dangerous consequences ahead.

No good purpose will be served by studying the diary of international affairs in the quarter of a century which has elapsed since that August day of 1914. But it is impossible to ignore one fundamental and tragic truth: The nation largely responsible for the attack on what we were pleased to call our advanced civilization 25 years ago, the nation humbled after 51 months of ghastly conflict on land, on and under the sea, and in the air, is the same nation that is still a threat to the world's peace. True, the Germany of 1939 responds to a different kind of direction, but the "place in the sun" which the Kaiser had demanded is merely changed to "Lebensraum" by the man who now controls the destinies of an enlarged Reich. The meaning is the same.

Perhaps we shall be charged with over-weighted optimism if we suggest that the events of the last quarter of a century, notwithstanding frequent manifestations of wavering faith in the face of broken pledges, are gradually driving home to the peoples of the world the absolute necessity for the establishment of a new order. Plain folk, of course, do not understand why nations cannot settle their differences without flying at one another's throats in the process. This is one reason why these same folk must realize once and for all that it is they who should be controlling governments instead of permitting governments to treat them as incidental vassals of the state. And we think the day is not far distant when science will concentrate less on the production of paraphernalia for war and more on means of cheaper communication which will enable the plain people of all nations to get closer together. The dawn of a greater understanding among them will be bad news for warmongers and armament manufacturers.

Successful Summer School

IT IS NOT TOO MUCH TO SAY THAT this year's exercises of the Victoria Summer School will be brought to an end today with the knowledge that a new record in excellence of achievement has been established. Under the able direction of Mr. Harold L. Campbell, vice-principal of the Normal School, more than 800 participants have contributed in the widest possible measure to their own instruction and not a little to their individual and collective enlightenment. Never before since the Summer School became part of the holiday curriculum of British Columbia's educational system has its annual session been devoted to such a variety of subjects as the one now finishing. Especially notable perhaps has been the consideration given to art studies, the work accomplished furnishing arresting evidence of fine talent, much of it bound to go far in the artistic realm.

In the broad sense, of course, the Victoria Summer School is much more than another series of "lessons" to be studied during part of the vacation period. It enables teachers from widely-separated parts of the province to exchange ideas in an informal as well as in a professional way. It provides opportunities for the city teacher to acquaint himself and herself with the difficulties often met with in the essentially rural districts; and, by the same token, it may cause those from the far places to look with envy on the lot of the urban classroom toiler. But the intrinsic merit of this in itself may not be measured by mere words. Apart from the purely educational value of these yearly sessions, therefore, the Summer School is of incalculable service to the cause of education in British Columbia.

An Insurance Policy

IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS WEDNESDAY Earl Stanhope, First Lord of the Admiralty, announced that the British navy now possessed a secret detector apparatus which, under ordinary conditions, would enable destroyers to "hunt out" submarines and fight them. And he expressed the opinion that no other power had the equipment "or anything like it."

It is some consolation to know that every arm of Britain's fighting services is commanding more respect from day to day from the aggressor nations. Bigger and better armaments evidently is the only language which Berlin and Rome really understand. If it brings der Fuehrer and Il Duce to earth, and persuades them that it is more prudent for them to be safe than sorry, the money spent on the argument will be well spent.

Chamberlain To Japan

WHEN IT IS ALL BOILED DOWN TO a comparatively few words, Prime Minister Chamberlain's long statement, on Britain's relations with Japan is an indication that his government hopes to settle outstanding differences with the authorities at Tokio by negotiation. But if the extremist element should be injudicious enough to try to force the issue, the whole situation would have to be considered from an entirely different point of view. Great Britain might even find it necessary to send a fleet to the Far East "in certain circumstances." Mr. Chamberlain was careful to explain, however, that he did not intend this "as a threat" but "only as a warning."

The implication of the Prime Minister's statement will not be lost on the moderate faction of the Japanese government. It may have little or no effect on that element which is ardently supporting the move to associate Nippon more definitely in the military sense with the two European axis partners in the anti-Comintern pact. But this will not alter the fact that the ministry at Westminster has now reached a stage in its dealings with aggressor nations from which it dare not retreat in the face of behavior obviously intended seriously to threaten British interests and British prestige in the Orient. It is as if Mr. Chamberlain has said to Japan that he will continue to negotiate only to a point which he thinks is reasonable.

The Prime Minister's analysis of the situation in the Far East—in which we in this part of the Empire are specifically concerned—need not be considered a serious reply to Japan's threat of more active collusion with Germany and Italy. Great Britain and other nations already have served joint notice on European totalitarianism that it moves against their wishes at its peril. Neither Hitler nor Mussolini is in a position to extract much consolation from lip service at Tokio. For both must know that should Japan, as part of her contribution to the axis machinery, go beyond the limit which Britain and other nations interested in the Far East have set for talk, she must expect serious additions to her present troubles.

"Believe It Or Not"

ONE OF THE REPORTS OF THE FIRST annual picnic of the Vancouver South-Point Grey Liberal Association, held last Saturday, said six prominent British Columbia Liberals earned the right to honorable mention in any "Strange As It Seems" competition. The reason? They all made speeches without one single mention of politics. And consider this with the galaxy of talent available for any type of forensic display. Present in person: Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, and Gerry G. McGeer, K.C., M.P. The others were Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Hon. George M. Weir, Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P., and Clarence Darling, president of the association.

But not a word about politics; not even the faintest hint as to the date or prospects of the coming federal elections. The delightful sunny weather, the beautiful surroundings of Kerrisdale's Maple Grove Park, the delicate notes of the birds, the happy faces of the 1,000 kiddies and grown-up politicians who had gathered to attract ministerial attention and perhaps the good fortune of a handshake—these were the things which held captive the imagination of the party leaders. Politics on such an occasion as this? Perish the thought!

An osteopath finds that two persons in three have one leg shorter than the other. But this is a pessimist's view. Actually, one leg is longer.

No one seems to know for sure what is going on in fantastic Louisiana. A theory is that the Mardi Gras is still running as a form of government.

McGill University is reported to be having a hard time finding a new president. Candidates may be waiting until the football prospects reach a maximum.

The most prosperous danceuse of her time, Sally Rand says of herself, "I am a white bird floating in the moonlight." With a nice sense of bookkeeping.

Not Before Mid-October

From Edmonton Journal
The announcement that the report of the Dominion-Provincial Relations Commission will not be ready for distribution before October 12 is disappointing. The probable date of its release has been put back several times. Last November Mr. King stated that it would be available "during the next few months." Naturally that was taken to mean that it would be presented to Parliament before the close of the session. But prorogation came in June without a report. Then the government was said to be looking for it some time in July and, when that month arrived, hope was held out that it would be forthcoming by August 15.

The commission's task is heavy and, of course, to hasten its completion at the expense of thoroughness would be a mistake. But the delay does seem unduly lengthy and it is not unreasonable to ask for a fuller explanation of what is responsible than that which has come from the chairman. Every opportunity should be afforded to study and discuss the document before another session. There is the most urgent need of enacting legislation then on the basis of the report. It ought to be given to the public just as soon as is possible without impairing its value, regardless of whether or not a general election is to be called this year.

IGNORANT TALK

DR. WEIR SAYS THE recent matriculation examinations set by his department of education were not too hard. No doubt this is true, because the matriculation student these days knows more than any cabinet minister except a minister of education. This offers great hope for the world in the next generation.

The one thing we should avoid at all costs is the production of students who are like us. Almost anything would be better. Yet the instinct of most people is to judge the coming generation by our own standards, to disparage it if it doesn't know just the things we know and to suspect it if it knows anything we don't know.

Behind the criticism of the present educational system undoubtedly is a fierce inward jealousy, and a deep-rooted inferiority complex. The grown man simply does not like to find that his son, or even his daughter knows more than he does. He resents it because it injures his ego. Then he goes out and runs for the school board and denounces the department of education, or stands on street corners and says that when he was a boy education was practical. So practical that it produced the present death pangs of a world civilization.

What the child should learn is certainly something that the layman is not qualified to say. I doubt that the professional educationist is any better equipped for it. The layman doesn't know enough and the educationist knows the wrong things. Most professional educationists that I have seen knew enough to floor you in the first round for a quick knockout but I have never been sure that they understood anything of importance. I have always suspected that certain ignorant men I have known about the woods and fields of British Columbia understood a good deal more without knowing anything.

However, that is only my jealousy, born of ignorance. The real point is that no educationists can foresee what the child should learn for, the years ahead because nobody can know what will happen in the years ahead, what the world will be like. If he can teach the child to think, perhaps the child will be able to learn for himself later what he needs to know and this is the professed object of education.

But speaking as an ignorant man, I see nothing in the youth around me to indicate that its processes of thought are improving over ours. They know more but are they any better equipped for meeting the problems of the future, particularly as those problems will be much more difficult than the ones we have failed to solve?

I doubt that they are better equipped in relation to the increasing difficulty. The trouble is that the difficulty is increasing more rapidly than it is possible for education to advance and the result is that everything we learn in school is out of date by the time we come to apply it. Practically everything you and I know isn't true by the time we get to know it. Most of us are entirely wrong about everything all our days. Maybe that is why most of us are so happy, while the educationists as a class are all miserable, because they dimly suspect the truth.

DRONES

I WAS TALKING THIS very question over yesterday with my friend Mr. Posey, who shines shoes in the barber shop, and Mr. Posey said that what was needed in the world was more study of problems. "You take me," Mr. Posey said, "I used to do all right on the races when I did my home work, studying the form charts, but since I slacked off I haven't won a bet. You have got to teach the children to study. But the trouble is people are too lazy, same as I'm getting. They don't want to work. You take the bees. They kill off all the drones. We elect them to Parliament. Maybe," said Mr. Posey, pausing at the onslaught of a great thought, "maybe that's why we get stung."

FLOATER

IT IS MY BELIEF THAT all these problems would be solved and the world would quickly return to a state of sanity if we floated more. It is because they don't float enough that men lack judgment and sweet reasonableness. If you will lie in our lake on a hot afternoon, lie back in the water, utterly motionless, and look up at the big trees, and let the little waves gently rock you up and down, you will understand more than the entire department of education and all its experts together. You will find at last a release from the tyranny of the earth.

No longer are you held down by gravity, bound to a solid substance, imprisoned by walls of flesh. You are disembodied now, suspended in liquid, utterly detached, free as a bird. All your life you have fought nature, defied the law of gravity with great effort by remaining upright and lifting your feet. All your life you have struggled with the forces of physics about you. Now you are at rest in nature's arms, and she welcomes you home at last and you are as much at peace as if you were dead and buried in nature's earth, but it is more pleasant, particularly when there is a good dinner waiting for you in the cabin.

So you float and your thoughts float with you, free, calm, ineffable and the problems of the world, the tragedies of statesmen, the toil of the educationists, seem far away and you look down on them as it were from a great height, untouched by them, floating unattached and suspended in another world. I tell you if our statesmen would float occasionally they would be a lot wiser, if they didn't just get waterlogged.

If you have any financial interest in Japan, better unload while you can. When nylon gets going, silk will be sicker than cotton is now.

August 4, 1914

25 Years Ago Today
We Went to War

THE dog-days of early August, 1914, were just like the dog-days of early August, 1939, hot, sticky and muggy.

But there was a difference. Twenty-five years ago the nightmare that haunts the world today was coming true. It had been more than 40 years since the Franco-Prussian War, a short, full-dress affair. Many believed that, in spite of all the militarization and sword-clanking in Europe, the world had got beyond that point.

All through the hot July days, the crisis following the assassination of the Austrian archduke had dragged along, and yet nothing had happened. Even on July 28, when Austria declared war on Serbia, a great paper editorialized that Europe-wide war "is too dreadful for imagining and because it is too dreadful it cannot happen."

THE PACE INCREASES

But by August 1 we could not fail to see the peril. The Four Days That Shook the World were beginning. The Austrians had already bombed Belgrade, but that had the Balkan aspect of unreality. Russia was already mobilized; the British fleet had already left Portland under sealed orders.

At 3.45 in the afternoon of August 1 French mobilization is ordered; at 4 p.m. the German. Thousands of tourists, stranded in Paris, look on as crowds stream down the boulevards, singing the "Marseillaise" and the "Internationale." They shout, "On to Berlin!" They wave flags. In France, Germany, the bright mobilization notices blossom on fences and walls. Gesticulating crowds gather around them and read.

STOCK EXCHANGES ARE CLOSED

Stocks have fallen from 10 to 25 points, wheat has jumped 10 cents a bushel, the country is nervous and excited. Stock exchanges throughout the world are closed on that August 1, and with the German declaration of war on Russia comes realization that this is no Balkan war. A German patrol near Prostken is fired on by a Russian patrol; the first shots of the war have been fired.

Prophetic words are uttered by the New York Times the following day—"the bloodiest war ever fought on earth and the least justified of all wars since man emerged from barbarism" is beginning. German troops are reported penetrating into Luxembourg, and the French order holding her troops 10 kilometers from the frontier is rescinded. Germany demands of Belgium free passage for her troops to attack France; Belgium refuses. The Germans enter Belgium at Verriers.

AT FULL GALLOP

On August 3 the tense situation gallops to a crisis; Germany declares war on France, which declares war on Germany.

The frantic flag-waving of Berlin and Paris is reflected in many cities throughout the world as reservists march through the streets and assemble at their consulates. German reservists march up New York's Bowery from Bowling Green at 7 in the evening, while crowds press around newspaper bulletin boards, many in tears. The German liner Kronprinz Wilhelm steals quietly to sea from her Hoboken pier, lights darkened, believed carrying supplies to German cruisers off the West Indies.

Day drags into night, and in London lights glow in the Foreign Office as the cabinet sits in an all-night session waiting for a reply from Germany to its protest against the violation of Belgium. Crowds stream up and down Whitehall, and continuous cheering is punctuated by the singing of God Save the King and "Rule, Britannia." Big Ben tolls midnight. The answer has not come. In that midnight hour, Britain declares war on Germany under date August 4.

As that fateful day dawns, all Europe is at war.

Before Liege, the men are beginning to die. . .

ACTION IN LONDON

The news cables tell of developments. (From the Victoria Times, August 4, 1914.)

London, August 4 — Great Britain today sent a practical ultimatum to Germany demanding a satisfactory reply by midnight tonight on the subject of Belgian neutrality.

London, August 4 — A second ultimatum sent by Germany to Belgium declared that Germany was prepared to carry through by force of arms if necessary any measures she considers essential.

London, August 4 — A proclamation by King George commanding the mobilization of the British army was read today from the steps of the Royal Exchange. A huge crowd cheered and sang the British National Anthem. The House of Commons today voted $525,000,000 for emergency purposes and passed

STARVING THE INSHORE
FISHERMEN

From Halifax Herald

This newspaper is advised that on Saturday a 40-ton vessel from one of the large cold storage plants loaded up with fresh mackerel along the shoreline of and adjacent to Lower Prospect.

For these fresh mackerel the fishermen received 30 cents per 100 pounds.

These mackerel, it is further stated, are going to be put into cold storage to be used as fall bait, and that "in the fall when the inshore fishermen need bait they will be required to pay from 3 to 5 cents a pound for the mackerel they are now forced to sell at 30 cents per 100 pounds."

Many reports have reached this newspaper indicating very low prices to the inshore fishermen along the Nova Scotian coastline but 30 cents per 100 pounds for this fine fish is a starvation price indeed!

25 Years Ago
AUGUST 4, 1914
(From the Times Files)

About 5,000 men are fighting bush fires in B.C. The number of fires is unprecedented in the history of the province. Exact figures are not yet available.

The marriage of Miss Carrie Buckner of Blaine, Washington, and Dr. J. L. Thompson, second son of Pilot John Thompson, was celebrated at the Bishop's Palace on Saturday, July 25, the officiating priest being Rev. Father McDonald.

Competition for Juniors at Fair

With a view to stimulating interest of young people in livestock breeding and showmanship, the B.C. Agricultural Association, with the assistance of a grant from the Dominion Government, has arranged several boys' and girls' contests for the 78th annual fair to be held at the Willows from September 9 to 16, inclusive.

Cash prizes in these competitions will amount to $276. The competitions include inter-club exhibits of cattle; cattle showmanship; judging contests and rope halter making.

Those in charge of this section of the fair are: Dr. W. R. Gunn, livestock commissioner; R. G. Sutton, district agriculturist of New Westminster; T. G. Stewart, livestock promoter; Dominion Government Department of Agriculture, and R. Rendle of Victoria.

Boy and girl exhibitors will be provided with suitable sleeping accommodation under proper chaperonage, and will be the guests of the fair association for their meals during fair week.

PIPERS WILL BEAT RETREAT

Victoria's colorful pipe band, that of the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish, will be heard in three presentations locally before it leaves for the San Francisco Exposition to compete in the American pipe band championships on August 26.

The band will beat the retreat at sunset Monday in Parliament Square and will repeat the performance in Victoria West Park on Thursday next. On Monday, August 14, the retreat will be beaten in Stadacona Park.

With his announcement of these events, Alderman W. H.

Dayles, chairman of the city celebration committee, also stated musicians from brass bands in Victoria would combine for a concert in Central Park on Wednesday night.

AIR MARSHAL HONORED
VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 60 members of the Royal Air Force Ex-officers' Association, honored Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., at an informal dinner here last night.

Hardy Spuds
BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Gus Talos, digging a well near here, found a dozen potatoes, all in good condition, which had lain there since the well was filled in 1931.

Your Diary WOULD BE SHORTER!

Only 67 years ago, Rev. G. M. Grant's journey from Halifax to Vancouver in only 133 days was so memorable that he published his diary — 368 fascinating pages of adventure over untamed lands. Today — Montreal to Vancouver by Trans-Canada Airways in 17½ hours.

In Mr. Grant's day — "In twelve working days we had travelled 506 miles . . . A month from Toronto and we are on the Saskatchewan". Now — "Leave Montreal 9.00 p.m. Breakfast in Winnipeg. Lunch in Vancouver . . . a hostess who serves refreshments aloft". While you sit back and smoke, the plane sweeps across lakes and rivers, plains and mountains following the trail of pioneers — men who toiled laboriously with axes, plows, picks making today's Canada.

As the maplike panorama unrolls, you see a country which enjoys luxuries our forefathers never dreamed of, free institutions they forged for us, security, space and resources which are the envy of a harassed world. Canada is a good place to live in — and the tobacco industry has helped to make it so. For the industry has invested millions in factories and processing plants, has helped to add tobacco-growing to our agricultural wealth, and supplies thousands of Canadians with employment in manufacturing and distributing products which increase the enjoyment of all.

Clean Up at Fair Grounds Asked

Oak Bay Council Hears Report By Fire Chief On Conditions There

A general clean-up of the Willows fairgrounds from a fire protection point of view before the fall fair is called for in a letter being sent to the British Columbia Agricultural Association by Oak Bay's fire chief, E. G. Clayards, with the approval of the municipal council.

The letter says all exits in fair buildings are to be properly marked and the doors are to be open outward. "No Smoking" signs are to be put up in the main cattle barn and the horse show building, and hydrants are not to be tapped with small pipe, as has been done in the past, to supply water to buildings.

The condition of the stables is noted with an order that no oil stoves or naked lights are to be used in them and the comment: "I find that most of the horse stables are dilapidated or in a poor state of repair. Many should be torn down and others repaired. The recent fire shows the danger from these buildings, and nearby residents are alarmed at their condition."

The letter also calls for a proper check-over of electric wiring in all buildings and for stricter enforcement of no parking rules around hydrants and in roadways likely to be used by fire equipment.

Oak Bay Council Briefs

R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk, and the municipal solicitors will act for Oak Bay with the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee in preparing a form of tender for a transport system covering the city and its suburban municipalities. The appointment, a formality, was made by the council at a meeting last night.

The council will get a report from its medical health officer, Dr. W. P. Walker, and its engineer, A. S. G. Musgrave, on sewerage conditions along its boundary with Saanich before doing anything about a letter from the City Council asking co-operation in urging the provincial health authorities to force Saanich to install a sewer system.

Councillors said they were not going to act on the strength of "gossip" without actually investigating their own share in the question. Mr. Musgrave told the council that if there were any danger to health along the boundary it would be from houses in Saanich fronting on Foul Bay Road. An Oak Bay sewer connection is available to these houses at a cost of $100, but not all have made use of it.

Reeve R. R. Taylor will appoint the municipality's delegates to the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities to be held at Harrison Hot Springs September 18 and 19, and the clerk will prepare a report on any resolutions which Oak Bay should submit to the meeting.

An expenditure of $3,000 for the installation of cast iron water mains on Ripon Road from the Uplands street car terminus to Beach Drive and for a short distance along Beach Drive is to be considered at a committee-of-the-whole meeting. The scheme, recommended by the council's works committee, is part of a general policy of replacing old steel mains with cast iron pipe and is considered necessary because of lack of pressure and extensive leaks in the present water line. If the change is made water pressure in the area will be considerably raised, it was stated.

The council indicated it would shortly make a study of the municipality's building by-law with a view to tightening it so as to permit more thorough control of building standards while construction is going on.

Formal permission was given by the council to Art Leason, a member of the municipal fire department, to act as official crowd shooter in Oak Bay in an attempt to put an end to a plague of the birds which has followed the cutting out of an annual crowd shoot by the provincial game department.

SALMONBELLIES WIN

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—New Westminster Salmonbellies, 1937 Canadian champions, have wiped out Richmond Farmers last chances of making a play-off berth in the 1939 Inter-city Box Lacrosse League play-offs.

Last night the powerful Fishermen swept down on the Farmers in a last quarter rally that gave them a 17 to 15 victory. The win did not alter league standings.

STOPS BALL FROM BLIMP, BADLY HURT

Joe Sprinz, Seals, Injured Catching Baseball Dropped 800 Feet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An attempt to set a new record for catching a baseball dropped from a great height cost Joe Sprinz, veteran catcher for the Pacific Coast League San Francisco Seals, a compound jaw fracture, the loss of eight teeth and ragged lacerations of both lips.

At a celebration of Baseball Day at the Golden Gate Exposition yesterday, five baseballs were dropped 800 feet from a blimp cruising over Treasure Island.

Four balls fell out of range.

Sprinz circled under the fifth and held his glove up. The ball struck the glove with terrific force, and the glove smashed against his face. He dropped to the ground in great pain and failed to hang on to the baseball. Sprinz will be out of baseball a month or more, and must undergo extensive treatment for the restoration of his mouth and jaws.

"That is the end of that kind of stunt for my ball players," said Charley Graham, Seals' president.

It was estimated the ball was traveling 150 miles an hour as it came to earth.

The record catch of 758 feet was from the top of Terminal Tower in Cleveland.

Visitors' Day at 'Y' Camp Sunday

Sunday will be the final Visitors' Day at the Y.M.C.A. Royal Thunderbird camp at Glinz Lake, Sooke, it was announced today.

At the present time over 70 boys between the ages of 10 and 12 years and leaders are occupying the camp. They will return to town next Wednesday and the 320-acre site will be closed until next summer.

Those who plan on visiting Royal Thunderbird will not be allowed to return over the two-mile road leading from the highway until after 4 in the afternoon as passing in cars is impossible.

At the camp the visitors will be shown around the site, tea will be served in the afternoon, and those who wish to use the swimming facilities may do so. Viv Shoemaker, camp director, will be on hand to welcome the visitors.

The Chinese 4,000 years ago realized that gopher generally attacked people who lived inland, and they treated it with seaweed and other sea medicines, many of which contained the helpful iodine.

Saanich Pioneer Dies at Ripe
Age of 97

Mrs. Mary A. P. Brooks
Came Here in 1884;
Fine Needlewoman

Nearly a century of life, during which she experienced pioneer conditions in Prince Edward Island, where she was born, and in Saanich where she came to make her home in 1884, was spanned by Mrs. Mary Ann Parker Brooks, who died yesterday at her home on Stelly's Cross Road, in her 97th year.

Funeral services will be held at the residence on Sunday afternoon at 2, followed at 2.30 by a service at the United Church, Shady Creek, where interment will be made in the family plot Sands Mortuary Ltd. is in charge of the arrangements.

BORN IN P.E.I. IN 1842

Mrs. Brooks was born in Waite Sands, Prince Edward Island, in 1842, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. White, pioneer residents of that community. In 1864, when she was 22 years old, she married, she and her husband continuing for nine years to live in Prince Edward Island, where they had a small farm. In 1873 they moved to Illinois, but after two years returned once again to Canada, bringing with them their first-born, John L. Brooks, with whom Mrs. Brooks was living at the time of her death.

Their next home was in Bruce County, Ontario, where they farmed for about 10 years, and where a daughter, now Mrs. John W. Morris of Vancouver, was born. In 1884 they came to Vancouver Island, and purchased 100 acres of farmland at Stelly's Cross Road, later increasing this to 150 acres. Mr. Brooks passed away 34 years ago, and since then the son, John L. Brooks, has continued to operate the farm with his mother, with the exception of a few years she lived with her daughter in Vancouver.

MADE PRIZE QUILT

Until about three years ago, Mrs. Brooks enjoyed remarkable health and was a splendid needlewoman. Within the last ten years she had made 20 patchwork quilts, every member of her family prizing one of these gifts, and so excellent was her stitching that one of her quilts won first prize at the Provincial Fair in Vancouver.

She is survived by one son, John L. Brooks, at the old family home, Stelly's Cross Road, Saanich, and one daughter, Mrs. John W. Morris, Vancouver; eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Queen Greeted On Her 39th Birthday

Her Majesty Sends Message On World Friendship

BALLATER, Scotland (CP)—Queen Elizabeth paused in opening her many birthday greetings today to send a message to the Lord Mayor of London on world friendship.

Replying to a telegram from the Lord Mayor, Sir Frank Bowater, on behalf of the citizens of London, the Queen said: "Their expressions of good will will be a constant inspiration to both the King and myself in our efforts to promote the true spirit of friendship throughout the world."

It was the Queen's 39th birthday. Government buildings broke out flags and bunting throughout the United Kingdom, but she restricted her own celebration to a quiet family party at Balmoral Castle.

Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose presented gifts to their mother.

OTTAWA (CP)—In honor of the 39th birthday of Queen Elizabeth, a Royal salute was fired from Parliament Hill today by gunners of the 1st Battery of the 1st Field Brigade, commanded by Major G. O. Hutchison.

The reception rooms were decorated with snapdragons, gladioli, dahlias, blue hydrangea and gypsophila. The gifts were presented in hat boxes, Miss Margison's being decorated in pink, while Miss Fatt's had pale green trimmings, each having a nosegay of summer flowers tucked under the bow on its lid. Lighted pink tapers in silver candelabra cast off a soft glow on the tiny bride and groom standing on a silver dais, surrounded by low bowls of godetias and maidenhair fern, which formed a charming centrepiece for the supper table, at which Mrs. Duncan D. McTavish and Miss A. J. Fawcett poured tea and coffee. Other guests were: Mesdames J. Y. Margison, F. F. Fatt, George Fatt, J. Petch, J. Ritchie, R. Shanks, R. Van Horne, A. McAllister, M. Novel Jamboree Aids
Garrison Church Fund

The Jamboree held Wednesday evening in the grounds of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, surpassed all expectations. The lawn, surrounded by trees festooned with colored lights, was crowded with people unable to resist the attractions of the flood-lit midway which did a roaring business under the supervision of the A.Y. P.A. directed by the energetic president, Bill Barclay.

Mrs. G. L. Stephens was in charge of candy stall and Mr. R. A. Narroct sold ice cream and soft drinks. Miss Mayhew told fortunes to a steady stream of customers and the W.A. had work and home cooking stalls. The Warndlife Trio presented a fine musical program in the hall—where refreshments were served by the church choir under the direction of Mrs. Kennedy. The church committee helped in many ways, and Harvey Dobson was in charge of the music and dancing, which terminated a very successful combined effort on the part of the church organizations.

Graceful New Dance

NEW YORK (AP)—Irene Castle presented a new dance, "The Castle rock and roll," before the Dancing Masters of America at their annual convention yesterday, with the hope its light, easy steps might overwhelm the fad of jitterbug.

It is performed with a partner to one-two music, with a side-slip, one slow and two quick steps, a "rock and roll," and a pretty little finishing kick.

Jitterbug dances, Miss Castle said, "are becoming to no one."

Modern manufacturers could take a lesson from this old Danish loom, which after a century of faithful service, still produces its regular quota of homespun curtains and tapestry. Having been in the same family for three generations this ancient instrument is an heirloom in the true sense of the word. The worried look on the picturesquely-attired young lady must be attributable to the discovery of some technical defect beyond the layman's comprehension. A colorful array of homespun neckties can be seen at the extreme right. This exhibit was a feature of the recent Arts and Crafts Fair, held on St. Helen's Island, sponsored by the Montreal Tercentenary Commission, in conjunction with the Canadian Handicrafts Guild. The fair's objective was to revive interest in the craftsmanship of the English and French-speaking inhabitants of the Province of Quebec.

Arrangements for the forthcoming provincial convention to be held in Victoria in September were outlined. Mrs. Quinn, Vancouver, was a guest. Mrs. David Fair, convener of the special committee, poured tea.

Cheaper Oxygen for Patients in Homes

CHICAGO (AP)—A new device perfected by the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn., makes oxygen treatment available in the home at moderate cost for the first time, the American Medical Association said today.

Heretofore such treatment, usually by oxygen tent, has been comparatively expensive even in large hospitals.

The new inhalation apparatus was described in the association's journal by Dr. Walter M. Boothby, Dr. W. Randolph Lovelace Jr. and Dr. Charles W. Mayo, who died May 26.

Boys Cheer As Mortgage Burns

Twilight Ceremony at Royal Thunderbird Camp Is Y.M.C.A. Highlight

Last evening was a memorable occasion for the Y.M.C.A. at its Royal Thunderbird Camp on the waters of Glinz Lake in the Sooke Hills, when a $2,000 mortgage on the 320-acre site was burned at a camp fire ceremony.

The ceremony was attended by the association's board of directors and others interested in the activities of the camp, and over 70 boys and leaders who are spending the final camping period there this summer.

The visitors to the camp left town by private car at 5.15 and on arrival at Royal Thunderbird were welcomed by director Viv Shoemaker and several of the leaders. After looking over the property, a wholesome meal was served in the newly-constructed dining-hall by the camp mother, Mrs. H. Norris and her daughter, Joyce. The visitors then further inspected the site.

As the sun dropped behind the hills and the shadows began to fall a beating of tomtoms sounded from camp headquarters and from all sections of the site came wild Indian whooping sounds. It was time for the regular camp fire session, and the boys did not waste any time getting to the spot.

BOYS OPEN CEREMONY

The fire was lit and the ceremony opened with mass singing by the boys of regular "outdoor songs." Mr. Shoemaker accompanied at a portable organ and one of the leaders, Ray Whitehouse, called out the numbers and led the boys. The first part of the ceremony was closed with the singing of the camp theme, "In the Garden."

H. B. Witter, president of the Y.M.C.A., spoke briefly to the gathering. He thought that Royal Thunderbird Camp was one of the finest boys' camps in Canada.

Mr. Witter then called upon C. D. Orchard, assistant forester of the provincial government, who assured that his department was in sympathy with the work of the Y.M.C.A.

The forestry department was working in the development of the nonagriculture lands of the province. Thus the work on Royal Thunderbird during the last winter by a crew of forestry men. The government would most likely do further work in improving the site during the coming winter, he said.

Archie Willis, city alderman and a director of the Y.M.C.A., spoke of his camping days as a member of the "Y" at the old Gorge site. Many of the friendships won during those days were lost through the Great War, he said, and it was hoped that the young fellows at the present camp would never go through that experience.

Mr. Willis praised the work that was being done by W. T. Straith, M.P.P., as camp committee chairman, and he spoke of the generosity of the Forestry Department, under E. C. Manning, chief forester, for the work that had been done at Royal Thunderbird.

Mr. Straith then addressed the boys, telling of the origination of the association camp, at Glinz Lake. Following the camping sessions at Beaver Lake the "Y" began to look for a more suitable place for a permanent site.

The selecting of Glinz Lake for the spot came as a result of a hobby of Dr. R. Felton, city health officer, and Mrs. Felton, of finding out-of-the-way lakes near the city. Dr. Felton suggested Glinz Lake to the Y.M.C.A. for their camp, and after negotiations the property was acquired on a $2,000 mortgage.

The $2,000 mortgage was paid off recently by an anonymous donor after three years.

S. J. D. Clack, boys' work committee chairman, said that the "Y" had won a victory in having received a donation of that kind. It spoke well for the work of the association. The money was given as a recognition of the Royal Visit, he explained. He then handed the mortgage over to Mr. Witter, who lit it from the camp fire, held it high for all to see, then threw it in the middle of the flames while all stood and sang the doxology.

The directors present were: Mr. Witter, Mr. Willis, Mr. Straith, Mr. Clack, Warren W. Martin, E. G. Rowbottom, J. A. Heritage, W. A. Jamieson and Dr. T. W. A. Gray. Walter Luney and T. P. McConnell represented the Rotary Club; Bill Hudson and Neil Grant, the Gorge Club, and J. C. Leaman and T. P. Waters, the Kiwanis Club and Mr. Orchard and Ken McCannel, Provincial Forestry Department. Sam Winterbottom of the boys' work committee and J. Kyle were also present.

Left of these three young ladies is a reputed contender in the society sweeps which soon will declare who is the No. 1 Glamour Girl of New York society. But Dolly van Stade is said by columnists to be "not photogenic," though she photographed sweetly this time. Most publicized, so far,

of the new crop of aspirants, is Mary Steele, with a flower in hair and another of those strapless gowns. Her father is a big banker, and her mother is Mrs. John Nelson Steele. Viv Fairchild, right, is well up in the list of liked. That flowing fur becomes her, and the sparkle of the glass before her sets off her air of quietness.

Barbers Will Test Fellow Barber

Three well-known barbers of Victoria will decide next week whether a fellow-barber is fit to cut the hair and shave the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Public. Six times a barber named John McAllister has been failed by the British Columbia Board of Examiners in Barbering. Yesterday in Vancouver, Mr.

McAllister, appealed from the board's ruling in County Court, presided over by Judge J. C. McIntosh of Victoria. His Honor appointed an independent board of examiners to test McAllister on his ability to operate in a licensed barber shop.

The appellant will be tested in Victoria next Wednesday afternoon—the barbers' half holiday—by Arthur Clarke, Benjamin Caruthers and Bill McLaughlin.

WILL VISIT VICTORIA.—The Duke and Duchess of Sutherland, on their first visit to Canada in 20 years, are seen as they arrived at Quebec aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain. They are on a round the world trip accompanied by a small group of friends. The Duke and Duchess will open the Caledonia Games at Vancouver on Saturday and will arrive here on their private yacht Sans Peur on Monday afternoon and be guests at Government House for several days. They will later sail in the Sans Peur on a cruise to Alaska and then cross the Pacific to New Zealand and Australia.

BURNING MORTGAGE.—H. B. Witter, president of the Y.M.C.A., is shown holding the $2,000 mortgage on the association's Royal Thunderbird Camp at Glinz Lake, as it started to burn at a camp fire ceremony held at the site last evening. Some of the boys who are attending the camp at the present time can be seen in the background.

INCENDIARISM BLAMED.—Twenty thousand dollars' damage was done when fire gutted the pulp mill of the Industrial Reserve this morning. Authorities blame it to an incendiary.

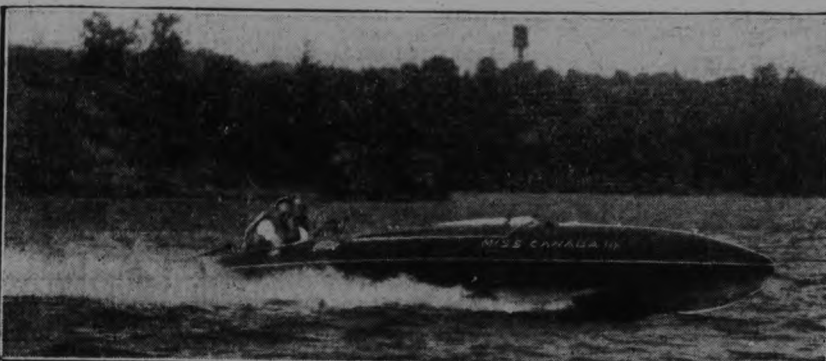

LOST FOR EIGHT DAYS.—Donn Fendler, 12-year-old Rye, N.Y., Boy Scout who, for eight days was lost in the Maine wilderness around Mount Katahdin, is shown reunited with his father, Donn Sr., at Eastern Maine General Hospital. At right is Nelson McMoarn who found the boy near his hunting and fishing camp near Sherman. The elder Fendler is a patient at the hospital suffering from an eye injury received during the search for the boy. The lad is now a co-patient pending general physical check-up.

GHASTLY TRAGEDY?—At first glance it may appear that a terrible crime had been enacted on Parksville Beach, but it is just a bit of trick photography by Candid Camerist Allan Maclean. The head apparently severed from the body, is that of one lad. The body is that of another. Hugh Maclean is the head and Fred Merriman is the body in the picture.

AFTER GOLD CUP FOR CANADA.—During the annual invitation regatta of the Bala Aquatic Association at the Muskoka resort spectators got an unexpected thrill when a hurtling speck came into sight, circled about the regatta course and disappeared. That was Miss Canada III, Harold Wilson's newest speedboat, which the experts are calling to bring the Gold Cup to Canada from Detroit on Labor Day. Miss Canada scarcely "opened up" on Saturday because of the "traffic congestion" in the regatta area, but after a trial spin Friday, was reported to have reached 100 miles an hour.

BRITISH CHIEF IN POLAND.—Major-General Sir Edmund Ironside, right, inspector-general of British overseas forces, is pictured here upon his arrival in Warsaw for official staff talks with Polish army chiefs. Sir Edmund flew to Warsaw via Denmark to avoid passing over Germany.

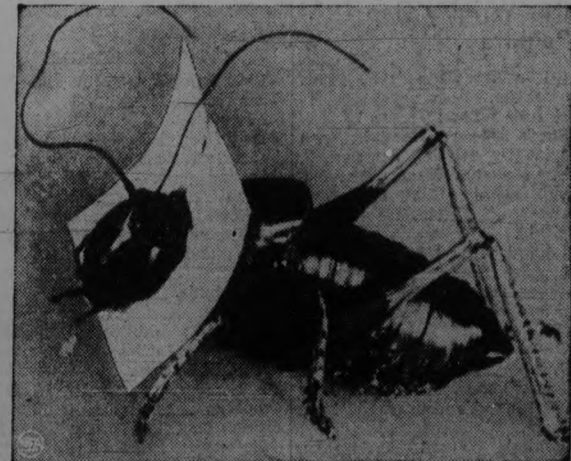

A COUPLE OF PAIS.—Speaking at a banquet at Niagara Falls, Ont., Premier Hepburn declared he was "a real supporter of Col. Drew" in the matter of need for strong national defence measures. Further, he told his listeners that when the times comes for him "to throw down the torch" of office as head of the government there is no one he would rather it should fall to than to the Ontario Conservative leader. This chummy picture of the two was taken at the dinner.

PRISON WITHOUT BARS.—Believed to be the only one of its kind in the British Empire, is the new county jail at Hull, Que., shown above, which will be completed within a few weeks. This prison has no bars on its windows, the windows instead being of double glass panes with the sash set eight inches into the walls.

NO MATCH?—Rumors that she'll be married again—this time to polo star Aidan Roark (below)—became so persistent that tennis star Helen Wills (above) up and denied them in an interview with New York reporters.

NOT CRICKET—FOR CRICKETS.—"Muzzled" with collar which prevents it from eating, sprayed with sodium arsenite dust, this cricket was subject in experiment at Montana State College, Bozeman, to aid farmers' war against insect pests. Purpose, to find method for killing crickets without having to wait for them to eat poisoned grain. Result, "muzzled" crickets died from effect of sodium arsenite touching bodies just as rapidly as those fed on poisoned food.

'JOINED' THE LIFE GUARDS.—The two small sons of Teixeira de Mattos of the Dutch Legation in London have complete sets of British Life Guards' uniforms, and every day they watch the troops leave Knightsbridge Barracks for the Horse Guards parade, where the changing of the guard takes place. Albert de Mattos, the elder son, keeps his sword rigidly at "the carry" while talking with Corporal Gibbons, but little brother Edward apparently is no disciplinarian, even when at the Knightsbridge Barracks. His sword gives him away.

BOB PASTOR is taking no chances of not being in condition when he lies up with Joe Louis in their heavyweight title boxing battle at Detroit September 20. The former college football star has gone into light training at this early date at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. Pastor, who now scales 193 pounds, expects to march front and centre with the Brown Bomber at between 182 and 186.

Pastor says he made a mistake in running from Louis in their first meeting at Madison Square Garden in January, 1937. "I assert that it was Jimmy Johnston's idea."

"I had never run from a fighter before, and haven't since, and honestly think that I would have stirred up plenty of trouble for Louis had I sailed into him toward the end of each round," he declares.

Johnston was the Garden match-maker at the time. Promoter Mike Jacobs, who has Louis under contract, was the Garden's arch rival, and it was said that Johnston was willing to disappoint his own trade to put a leak in the Negro youth's reputation as a knockerout. To make certain of this, Johnston put Pastor on a bicycle.

"The most important thing I learned in that start was that Louis is dangerous for only the first minute of a round," explains Pastor.

"And that he has to hit you with a succession of punches to really hurt you. Old Jim Braddock was the only one he flattened with one belt."

"Now, while I'm leaving my bicycle at home this trip, I don't believe Louis is going to clip me with a series of punches."

"I wasn't too accustomed to 10 rounds when I tackled Louis the first time, and I have come on while he, in my opinion, has gone back a little."

"Joe no longer is a 'hungry' fighter. He's been in the more important money for four years and has been champion too. He's had all the good things of life and that doesn't do a prize fighter any good."

New Methods Reach Final

Take Two Straight From Douglas Tire in Softball Playoffs

Douglas Tire Shop nine was ousted from the race for the lower island senior softball championship last night and New Method Laundry advanced to oppose Victoria Longshoremen in the playoff final by virtue of their decisive 12 to 3 victory at Athletic Park.

A large crowd of fans turned out at the enclosure and saw Methods play sparkling ball to smash out their second straight triumph over the tiremen and bring the best-of-three preliminary series to a close. Methods won the first game 3 to 2.

The tiremen showed none of the good form they displayed during the season to pave their way to a playoff position and they certainly did not like the calls made by umpire Ernie Stock and protested vigorously. The redshirts became so upset at one time that they nearly walked off the field, but after going into a huddle decided to stay in the game, which closed in the last of the eighth inning owing to darkness.

PLAY SMART BALL

Laundrymen made few errors behind the seven-hit twirling of their second-string twirler, Bill Buddell, and hit the Tire Shop's moundsmen hard all night to collect a total of 14 base blows, including a pair of home runs by Bob McKean and Burgess Berry.

Palmer started for the Tire Shop but was taken out early in the fifth. He was nicked for eight bingles, which were good for seven runs. Lloyd Jones went in to take over in the fifth with two men on and none down. During his three innings on the hill, Jones was nicked for six safeties and five runs.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
New Method 3 0 0 2 2 5 0 — 12 14 2
Douglas T. 0 0 1 0 0 0 2 — 3 7 3
Batteries—Buddell and Berry; Palmer, Jones (5) and Caddell.

Radials Must Win Tonight

B.C. Soccer Champs Need Victory to Remain in Canadian Series

WINNIPEG (CP)—Montreal's soccer veterans can play for a draw tonight and still win the Dominion soccer crown but Adam Smith, Carsteel's manager, is convinced they are going to win the game and best-of-three series, played on the points system. The easterners now lead 3 to 1 with a win and a draw against Vancouver Radials.

By taking one point, Montreal will win the series 4 to 2 and carry the soccer championship east for the first time in four years, but Smith says "our lads are not going out tonight just to play for a draw. We spotted our western friends two goals Wednesday night and then came through with three quick goals to win the old ball game. We are going to get the jump on the Radials and stay out there in front."

Hal Till, Radials' manager, is ready to discount the last game "as one of those things. For 65 minutes our fellows played like a winning team and then in the last 25 fell away."

Though faced with the necessity of winning to prolong the series, Till is optimistic. "I know we've got to win. It will be different tonight."

Lawrence Mile Champ

Victoria Swimmer Takes Wrigley Cup Feature at Kelowna Regatta

KELOWNA — Husky young Gordie Lawrence, outstanding young performer for the Victoria Y.M.C.A. swimming club, surged to the front to capture the men's one-mile race for the Wrigley Cup, emblematic of the British Columbia championship, in yesterday's feature event on the 33rd annual Kelowna international regatta program.

Lawrence, who placed third in the 100 yards backstroke and the 600 yards freestyle on Wednesday, when he also swam a stretch on the second place "Y" medley-relay team, started his work yesterday with a third place in the men's 220.

In the longer distance the Victoria performer headed Terry Macaulay and Jack Pomfret, both of Vancouver, to the finish in 25.27.

Victoria girls finished in the money in other events on the program, Florence Byatt taking third in the women's 50 freestyle, Eleanor Peden second in the women's 220 and Olive French

LET HER BUCK, BOYS—Here's a picture with plenty of splash. At least this pair executing double dive against a background of clouds at pool in Croydon, Surrey, England, will have plenty of splash in a second.

Yank Power Blasts

DiMaggio Explodes Two Home Runs to Feature 16-Hit Attack On Detroit

Just when a few doubting fans begin to believe the New York Yankees have lost their vaunted power to overcome formidable obstacles, the world baseball champions step forth lustily to show they haven't. That's what they did yesterday against Detroit Tigers.

It's an old story for the American League rulers. After losing half a dozen games in a row in early July they reeled off 13 victories in their next 15 games. Yesterday they came up with a 16-hit attack on Detroit to halt a three-game skid and set the Tigers back 12 to 3.

Joe DiMaggio led the Yankee uprising with two home runs and a single, bringing in five tallies, and had a lot of help. Bill Dickey and Red Rolfe hit homers and Babe Dahlgren tripled with the bases loaded. The home runs brought the Yankee total to 95 for 95 games; this season.

Boston Red Sox, grimly hanging within hollering distance of the lead, had just as easy an afternoon in scalping the Cleveland Indians 17 to 6. Cleveland contributed six errors in addition to 19 hits to help the Red Sox along.

Chicago White Sox completed their series with the Philadelphia Athletics on a 9 to 7 victory note accomplished by bunting most of their blows and all their runs in three middle innings. Washington Senators swept their session with St. Louis Browns with a 9 to 5 victory in the final, although outlived 13 to 10.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
In the National League the second-place St. Louis Cardinals extended their current winning streak to five games with a double victory over Boston Bees and gained a full notch on Cincinnati Reds, who were rained out of their chance at revenge on New York Giants.

Lon Warneke went the route for the first time since May 30 with an eight-hit exhibit in the first game, which Joe Medwick and Enos Slaughter helped him win 5 to 1 with a couple of homers. The Cards cruised from behind to win 4 to 3 in the nightcap.

Brooklyn Dodgers climbed into a fifth-place tie with the Giants by taking the deciding game of their series at Pittsburgh 4 to 1. Tot Pressnell kept the Pirates in check on eighth-inning pitching. Chicago Cubs plastered another defeat on the Phillies 9 to 6 to give Bill Lee his 12th victory of the year.

COAST LEAGUE

Seattle's league-leading Suds were up a full game on the Los Angeles Angels today after knocking over San Diego, while the Angels dropped a 12-inning struggle to those persistent Sacramento Senators.

The Suds, leading the loop now by four and a half games, blossomed out with five runs in the ninth inning for 8 to 5 win over the Padres at San Diego, but Sacramento did it the hard way.

The ninth-inning blast at San Diego included successive home runs by Alan Strange and Art Hunt. The Suds, who dropped the first two games of the series, got 14 hits off Wally Hebert and Pat Tobin, who took over in the seventh, while the Padres got eight hits off three Seattle moundsmen.

Another ball game won in the ninth was Hollywood's 8 to 7 win over Portland.

San Francisco's Seals beat out a 4 to 2 win over Oakland at the Oaks Park.

Over 200 Bowlers Will Play in Local Tourney

Colored Team Plays Tonight

House of David Baseballers Open Series Against Victoria

Colored gents with whiskers decorating their chins, Manager Harry Crump's touring House of David ball tossers will open their three-game series against Manager Fred McGinnis' Victoria All-stars this evening at the Athletic Park at 6.15. Two games will be played tomorrow, the matinee attraction starting at 2.30 and the evening game getting under way at 6.15.

Rated as one of the finest colored attractions at present touring the Dominion, the Davids should not fail to provide the local followers of the diamond sport with good entertainment during their three-game stand.

The tourists are noted for their fine baseball and have a bag full of tricks to give their shows a touch of humor.

Manager Fred McGinnis will have his best team out for the series, and is expecting them to make a good showing against the visitors. The local did quite well against African Zulu Giants, winning the final game of the three-game series.

There are 13 players on the visiting team, including four pitchers, "Schoolboy" Lomax, "Cannonball" Berry, "Pee Wee" Mays and "Iron Horse" Carter. Other members of the team are: McDaniel, left field; Sanders, centre field; Crump, right field; Hawkins, shortstop; Burke, second base; Chisum, third base; Palms, catcher; McCray, catcher, and Hamilton, first base.

Some of the Davids will visit the Victoria baseball school tomorrow morning and give the youngsters a talk on the finer points of baseball.

Alerts Battle Bays Tonight

Tangle in Feature Game of Willows Park Boxla Program

Manager Harry Sargison's Alert Service box lacrosse squad will again try and call a halt to the victory march of manager Ted Menzies' James Bay outfit tonight when they collide in a senior battle in the Willows Park sports auditorium.

The game will feature a two-game card. Minor teams will meet in the preliminary at 7.30. The Bays are setting the pace in the senior circuit with a four-game lead over Alerts.

They have suffered their only defeat at the hands of the transfer men. Despite the wide gap separating the two teams in the standings, Alerts are capable of giving Menzies' crew plenty of stiff opposition, and there should be a keen scrap before the winner is determined.

SOFTBALL MOGULS MEET HERE SUNDAY

On Sunday morning at 10 at the home of Ernie Stock, corner Quadra Street and Queen's Avenue, a meeting will be held by the B.C. softball executive to straighten out matters in connection with the recent suspension of the Mid-Island Softball Association.

The session will be attended by the B.C. executive members, members of the sub-committee, which met in Nanaimo on July 30 and members of the Mid-Island Association executive.

In addition to discussion of the suspension other important matters will be before the meeting.

CONN VS. BETTINA
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mike Jacobs, New York fight promoter, announced yesterday he had signed light-heavyweight champion Billy Conn of Pittsburgh and Mello Bettina of Beacon, N.Y., for a return bout September 25 in Pittsburgh. Conn won the title from Bettina last June in New York by a decision.

Honor Hagen With Tourney

Leading U.S. Professional Golfers Take Part In Chicago Event

CHICAGO (AP) — A $5,000 streamlined exception to the rule that there isn't much sentiment in this era of high-pressure sports competition will give Chicago the best golf tournament in its history within the next three weeks.

On Aug. 24, at the Midlothian Country Club house, 16 of the top professionals in the sport will open a four-day, best-ball championship. The field will be the most compact and outstanding ever to play in this district and should produce spectacular golf.

All of which is the result of a sentimental gesture toward perhaps the most colorful figure golf ever has known—Walter Hagen.

Just 25 years ago "The Haig" won his first United States open championship at Midlothian. Recently friends of Hagen and Midlothian Club members decided it would be fitting to mark the anniversary with a tournament in his honor—and to show they weren't just talking they subscribed $5,400 as prize money.

ROUND-ROBIN PLAY
Eight two-men teams will play a round-robin schedule of 126 holes, with each team playing every other. The best ball will be played on each hole, with the team winning the most holes in four days' play taking down the $1,150 first prize.

Hagen will team with the veteran Gene Sarazen. The gallery no doubt would like to see the Hagen-Sarazen team win the event, but this isn't likely, in view of such combinations as Ralph Guldahl-Sam Snead, Byron Nelson-Dick Metz, Henry Picard-Johnny Revolta, Denny Shute-Ernie Harrison, Paul Runyan-Horton Smith, Jimmy Thompson-Tommy Armour, and Ed Dudley-Billy Burke.

The game will feature a two-game card. Minor teams will meet in the preliminary at 7.30. The Bays are setting the pace in the senior circuit with a four-game lead over Alerts.

They have suffered their only defeat at the hands of the transfer men. Despite the wide gap separating the two teams in the standings, Alerts are capable of giving Menzies' crew plenty of stiff opposition, and there should be a keen scrap before the winner is determined.

Sailors Score Win

Navy put themselves in a fine position to clinch first place in the Humphries Cup second division baseball series at the completion of the schedule when they handed Oak Bay a 5 to 2 defeat last night at Oak Bay Park. The sailors are setting the pace at the present time.

Coming to life in the last inning, Brown Bombers managed to make it a 9 to 9 tie score in their game with Pitzer and Nex at Beacon Hill Park.

On Sunday at Reynolds Road, Brown Bombers will meet the Mayo Lumber nine in a two-game series, starting at 1.30 and 5.

Cricket Match

In the only league cricket match scheduled tomorrow Five C's will engage Albions at Beacon Hall Park. Play will start at 2.30.

Five C's line-up follows: Quin-ton (captain), J. Payne, G. Payne, Griffin, Edwards, Comley, Harper, Hepworth, Attwell, Peers and Petch. Umpire, A. E. Gregg.

HOLD DISCUSSION ON APARTMENTS

Real Estate Board Argue for and Against Apartment Houses Here

Members of the Real Estate Board of Victoria argued for and against apartment houses in the city, in a discussion led by G. Newstead, at the regular luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining-room today.

One point which was generally accepted was that apartments could never be looked upon as a home where duplex houses could. Apartments catered to transients with a result that there were more vacancies.

Other arguments were presented for apartments providing they were run properly. It was suggested that the board draw up a set of standardized regulations for apartment owners.

Ten or 11 years ago there was much building of apartments and duplex houses, one member said. He pointed out that today the apartments built back in 1929 or thereabouts, were selling for a sacrifice where the duplex houses were not.

There was plenty of land in and around Victoria for building, another member said, arguing against apartments, which "crowded many people into a small area."

A motion was passed instructing the secretary to send a letter to the parks superintendent commending him on the hanging of flower baskets on light standards along the streets of the city. It was also decided that the meetings of the board would be canceled until September.

J. C. Bridgman presided.

Ontario Tobacco Harvest

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP)—Ontario's tobacco crop is making a good comeback with the required amount of heat and rain, but tobacco men here say harvesting operations will not be general for a week.

Growers said few new arrivals in the tobacco belt would get jobs, as most of the growers long ago arranged for engaging the experienced laborers needed.

Police today investigated a report from Ted Wilson, Mason Street, that his wallet was stolen from his room last night. The wallet, with $1.85 missing, was found outside the house.

German wartime pilots were called "Enall" by the observers, and the observers were known as "Franz" to the pilots.

Okanagan Produce Received Today

Wholesale Row received a large carload of Okanagan merchandise this morning, including peaches, apricots and cantaloupes.

According to officials the prices on cantaloupes are lower at the present time. Apricots from the district are nearly through with a small shipment expected at the beginning of next week.

A shipment of small-size watermelon was received yesterday to fill a great demand caused by the hot weather.

Local apples are plentiful now and prices are reasonable. Blueberries are also on hand in large quantities.

Prices on grapes have been reduced for the week-end and hot-house tomatoes are nearly finished. Outside tomatoes are being received from Washington and the Okanagan. Hot-house cucumbers are also drawing to a finish.

Prepare for Start On Utility Appraisals

Commission's Engineer Back in City to Begin Work

With the return this week of S. R. Weston, who was engaged as utility engineer, the British Columbia Public Utilities Commission shortly will commence its appraisal of the physical assets of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, according to Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman.

Dr. Carrothers said while no formal moves have been made yet Mr. Weston will prepare to commence work right away.

The commission intends to turn its attention first to the B.C. Electric holdings in Vancouver and the Fraser Valley. Eventually the appraisal will extend to the entire utility holdings of all companies in the province.

Westminster Beer Licenses Considered

Eleven applications for beer parlor licenses in the city of New Westminster will be considered shortly by the Liquor Control Board, W. F. Kennedy, chairman, said today.

While the board has not yet decided the policy it is unlikely all applications will be granted. Five, or possibly six, beer parlors will be allowed in the city, it is expected.

Lloyd, former Bishop of Saskatchewan. Hymns sung were "Where the Light Forever Shines" and "The Love of God Constrains." The 23rd Psalm.

Rescued Prospector Back at Langford

Alexander Walker, who collapsed with malaria while on a prospecting trip in the Comox Glacier area last week and was brought out from the hinterland wilderness after desperate efforts by a rescue party, is back at his home on Atkins Road, Langford, today, thankful to be alive.

Fully recovered after his harrowing experience atop a mountain in almost impenetrable country without food and water for four and a half days, Walker, a 65-year-old machinist prospector, is overjoyed to be back on his suburban homestead with his chickens.

He is inclined to belittle his own harrowing experiences and gives all praise to his rescuers. Walker, accompanied by his wife, traveled by automobile over the Island Highway from Courtenay to Langford after Dr. P. L. Straith of the up-island town had given him permission to travel. Despite his age, exposure and hunger, he is in fairly good shape after his adventure.

The monthly meeting will be held by Technocracy Inc. Monday evening at 8 at 222 Pemberton Building.

DUNNING VOYAGES TO GREAT BRITAIN

Finance Minister Leaves Canada On Tour In Search of Health

MONTREAL (CP)—Finance Minister Dunning sailed for England today aboard the liner Montclair, seeking to recover from ill health which has forced him out of active politics.

His wife, daughter, Kay, and son, Avery, stood on the dock as the liner pulled out. The minister is traveling alone.

He walked slowly up the gangplank shortly before the ship sailed, without his usual black pipe and carrying a cane. Once aboard the ship, he went directly to his cabin.

A large number of family friends and Montreal citizens saw the Finance Minister off. Hon. J. L. Ralston went aboard and talked for several minutes with Mr. Dunning. Col. Ralston is mentioned in some quarters as a possible successor to Mr. Dunning if the latter drops his portfolio.

Avery Dunning, a junior at Queen's University, said his father had no particular plans. "He is going to wander around England and try to get well just loafing about," he said.

Sir Edward Beatty, chancellor of McGill University and a member of the board of directors of the Bank of Montreal, issued a statement yesterday in which he called "unsupported" various reports that Mr. Dunning might be named president of either institution.

"Much as we respect and admire him, his name has never been considered in connection with the vacancy in the presidency of the Bank of Montreal, nor as principal of McGill University," said the statement by Sir Edward, president and chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

BIG BATTLE SOON NEAR SHANGHAI

Chinese Troops Moving in for Attack On Japanese

SHANGHAI (AP)—Large forces of Chinese regulars were reported today to be filtering into the Shanghai-Nanking area in preparation for major fighting on ground which Japanese wrested from them in first months of the war.

Chinese sources said the troops were getting ready for attacks on railroads, arsenals and Japanese bases.

The troops were said to be massing in the Shanghai-Nanking-Hangchow triangle, which Japanese theoretically had occupied by the beginning of 1938. Sizeable guerrilla forces have been operating in the area.

The reports coincided with Chinese statements Japanese had begun checkmating in their campaign in Shansi Province.

Dispatches from Tientsin said Japanese troops in the north were bogged down by Hopeh Province floods.

The Hai River was closed to navigation by coastal steamers because of the heavy current and silting from flood waters which raised its level to within three feet of the British bund in Tientsin.

All steamers were stopping at Tangku, on the coast 30 miles downstream from Tientsin, and canceled their up-river trips.

Railway communication—and hence Japanese military transportation—was seriously hampered by the floods. Traffic on the Peiping-Hankow and Peiping-Suiyuan railways, it was said, could not be resumed for a number of days. The two lines were cut by high waters which carried out bridges and embankments and prevented repairs.

Miles of the new Japanese-built line from Peiping north to the great wall at Kupeilow were wrecked by floodwaters.

California Floods Maroon Children

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—One-way traffic was resumed today from Redlands and San Bernardino to the Barton Flats area, where highway washouts caused by a near-cloudburst had marooned 500 southern California children. Road crews were expected to have side roads opened by tomorrow.

Cut off from contact with anxious parents, the children were reported safe this morning by the United States forest service in various camping grounds above the upper end of the Santa Ana River, which overflowed its banks yesterday after rainfall that measured 1.39 inches in two and a half hours.

Two bridges were washed out and roads were blocked by debris carried down the mountain canyons.

St. Paul's Windows Broken By Explosion

50 Persons Treated in London Hospitals After Gas Main Blast

LONDON (CP)—Scores were injured today, 12 seriously enough to be kept in hospitals, when a gas explosion attributed to a short-circuited fire-alarm box tore through the roof of a building near St. Paul's Cathedral.

A number of plain windows on the south side of the famous church were broken, but of stained glass windows escaped damage.

The explosion occurred in a building being demolished. One explanation was that a water main burst, crushing a gas main and undermining the building. The structure collapsed, a fire alarm was short-circuited and escaping gas ignited.

Workmen were flung 20 feet from girders of the building and police combed the ruins for any possibly trapped.

Passersby cut by flying glass and other fragments were among the injured. Some 50 casualties were admitted to hospitals and 12 remained.

Shortly afterward an explosion occurred in a box of letters.

Pastor developed his fast pair of legs in the New York University backfield and again intends to make good use of them against Louis, although attack will play a vastly more important part in his tactics on this occasion.

Pastor believes the 20-round route is to his advantage.

"Louis is a one-track fighter," he goes on. "He comes out with one plan of battle and he's a novice when you untrack him."

"I believe I will knock him out."

Bob Pastor will move closer to the battleground, August 21. Meanwhile, he is absorbing much of the traditional atmosphere which surrounded Jack Dempsey at the Spa.

Since William Harold Terry took over the management of the New York Giants in the National League in June, 1932, 14 different individuals have passed in review at third base, counting the newest candidate, Tom Hafez, late of Jersey City.

Of this number, nine held forth for various periods during last season and this... Mel Ott, George Myatt, Mickey Haslin, Lou Chiozza, Blondy Ryan, Bill Cissell, Alex Kampouris, Tony Lazzeri and Hafez.

That may well be a record spanning two years for one position, where Terry used six different men last season and six so far this term, with Ott, Myatt and Chiozza repeating this year and last.

Others whom Terry has had at the hot corner are Travis Jackson, Charlie Drensen, Mark Koenig, Eddie Mayo and Johnny Vergez.

HOMER PROVES MEDWICK TRYING

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Joe Medwick's homer in his first time up against Boston Bees yesterday, after the fans had cheered his appearance, was looked upon today as a resounding answer to reports the Cardinal outfielder was disgruntled, was not doing his best, and would soon don a Brooklyn uniform.

The reports were inspired by Medwick's display of temper in Tuesday's game when manager Ray Blades sent Lynn King to replace him in the outfield in the 11th inning.

After he and Medwick shook hands Blades said: "The removal of Medwick was just a tactical change for a moment which I thought might be beneficial on the defence. I think Medwick is a great player and have never thought anything else. He'll be in there every day."

Medwick stated: "I have done my very best, and if I have missed a few more flies than ordinarily it was not because of lack of heart. I have no sore arm or sore leg excuses, and I'm giving everything I have and will continue to do so. Blades is trying to manage the club as he sees it, I know."

President Sam Breadon of the Cards, backing Blades in his managerial tactics, called the affair a "tempest in a teapot," and said it was "a closed incident."

CUNNINGHAM TO PUT ON WEIGHT

PEABODY, Kas. (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, whose hobby is clipping seconds off mile records, dedicated his 30th birthday today to "eating, sleeping and fishing."

He hopes the lethargy will add a few pounds—the first step in a campaign for a 1940 Olympic championship.

Glenn came here with his wife and daughter in mid-July. 14 pounds underweight following a strenuous season. As Dr. Cunningham of the University of Kansas extension department, he motored over the state's bleak highways all winter and spring lecturing on "How to Keep Fit."

He developed a pair of muscle-tired legs.

Those same travel legs turned traitor during the running season and trackman Cunningham's methodical dieting to get back in shape cut his weight from the customary 168 pounds to 154.

September 10 he will start light workouts. About January 1 he hopes to be in shape for top-flight competition.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A tall, web-footed "whatsit" which farmer Rush Fritz caught raiding his chicken coops had the whole town guessing today—at a nickel a guess.

Two feet long and spotted like a fawn, the animals is 10 inches high, has a "head like a rat," nibbles like a beaver, has brown fur and an underslung lower jaw.

S. I. Shortes, head of the science department of Bloomsburg State Teachers' College, looked it over, shook his head and vowed he never had seen "such an animal."

As far as farmer Fritz is concerned he doesn't care how long the "whatsit" remains unidentified. He's getting a percentage of the nickels—to compensate for 10 of his chickens it killed.

Autos Hit Transit Companies

B.C. Electric President Says Transportation Problem One for Whole Community

STREET CARS OF OLD TYPE CONDEMNED

Must Be Modernized If They Are to Continue, Says Toronto Director

VANCOUVER (CP)—William C. McBrien, chairman of the Toronto Transportation Commission, said today that if Canada's transit industry intends to hold its place in the transportation field, it will have to purchase new, modern equipment, modernize much of its older equipment, supply more comfortable riding and increase average speed.

Mr. McBrien, in a luncheon address at the Canadian Transit Association's 35th annual meeting which opened here today, said however that he does not believe his industry is a dying one.

"But if the industry is going to meet the competition of the automobile—our greatest competitor—it cannot do so with antiquated rattle-trap equipment, rough in operation, poorly lighted and heated, and at an average speed of 10 miles per hour."

"Our public, by the more universal use of the automobile, has become educated to a standard of speed and comfort that we have not been giving them in the past," he said.

From a passenger revenue standpoint, the transit industry is "standing still," he contended. Transit men must not be too smug in their belief their service is a municipal necessity. He reminded delegates of the "once financially successful steam railroads of Canada that are today not only a worry to their owners, but to the government of our country as well."

Both the railroads and the great steamship passenger service of 25 years ago "were more or less a monopoly" which did nothing to meet the modernized automobile, bus and truck competition until it was too late."

MORE SPEED NEEDED

Mr. McBrien said the average speed of urban transportation services must be increased. Transit officials would have to fight for elimination of parking on all downtown street car street; street extension, street widening and even private rights of way to facilitate rapid traffic movement, and segregation of public and private transportation by certain streets for street cars and other streets for automobile traffic.

"Our public transportation systems are carrying 60 per cent of all traffic and therefore should receive first consideration in the deliberations of town planning authorities," he said.

Transit company employees must be "boosters," and "salesmen" to impress on the public that the industry is giving them the "best possible service at lowest price."

Advertising campaigns in the daily press should be used to educate the public. Better public relations must be established, he said, "for we require the support of the press, the public and our governing bodies if we are to give our patrons a more modern service."

URGES STREET CAR TAXATION RELIEF

Transit Association President Also Claims Right to Make Economic

VANCOUVER (CP)—E. W. Arnott of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Transit Association, told the 35th annual meeting of that organization here today that the transit industry can not look forward to great improvement in its operations until "a more stabilized condition of world affairs is realized."

Reporting that revenues of Canada's transit operations during the past year showed a decrease of 3 per cent below the preceding 12 months, Mr. Arnott—transportation manager of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company—commented:

"Relief from burdensome and unfair taxation, coupled with a recognition of the right of the industry to apply generally accepted operating economy practices where such recognition in the past has been withheld, seems to me to be the only avenue through which relief can be granted without in any way interfering with the rate of fare, labor costs, frequency or safety of such services."

"We have told over and over again the story of our plight to local authorities, with whom we have contractual agreements," he said. "With all due respect to these elected bodies, they are not particularly interested in this serious phase of our problem."

Mr. Arnott welcomed to the convention, which will continue

Movie Managers At Convention

Victoria Men at National Famous Players' Canadian Convention

Three Victoria theatre managers are back in town after attending what was rated as the greatest motion picture convention ever held in Canada—the first annual National Famous Players' Canadian Corporation conference at Niagara Falls last week.

The Victoria men who attended the convention were John M. Robertson of the Capitol Theatre, Marc Prieswerck of the Atlas Theatre and Cliff E. Denham of the Dominion Theatre.

Outstanding speakers from eastern United States and Canada highlighted the four days' convention according to the local delegates. Over 250 theatre managers from the Pacific to the Atlantic were present.

N. L. Nathanson, president of the corporation, spoke at many of the meetings. He expressed the opinion that television tied in with motion pictures would enhance the industry as sound helped films.

HEPBURN MAIN SPEAKER

The main speaker of the convention was Premier Mitchell F. Hephburn of Ontario, who addressed the closing banquet in the Brook Hotel. Premier Hephburn spoke on the place of motion pictures in national life and said that the movie industry should voluntarily mirror more of the national life of Canada, particularly in the time of Dominion-wide stress.

Other speakers heard were J. J. Fitzgibbon, vice-president and general manager of the corporation; Larry Bearg, British Columbia chief, and Frank Goo, district manager, both of Vancouver; Col. George Drew, Conservative leader in Ontario; Barney Balaban, president of Paramount Pictures; Major John Bassett, editor of the Montreal Gazette, and several directors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and Mayor Carl D. Hanwell of Niagara Falls.

During the convention approximately $30,000 was distributed among the managers in bonus cheques.

Mr. Prieswerck brought back with him a handsome combined desk clock and calendar as a member of the victorious western team over the east, in a tug-of-war contest at a sports program staged during the conference.

Gold Production May Be $175,000,000 in '39

MONTREAL (CP)—Total gold produced in Canada during 1939 "may reach 5,000,000 ounces with a value of $175,000,000," the Royal Bank of Canada stated today in its monthly letter. This compares with actual production of 4,096,213 ounces valued at $143,326,493 in 1937 and 4,679,685 ounces and $164,561,123 in 1938.

Production of gold for the first six months of 1939 in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia was ahead of last year's half-yearly output, the report stated. In British Columbia the provincial department of mines estimated production during the first half of the current year at 289,500 ounces valued at $10,921,343 as compared with 282,863 ounces and $9,840,624 in 1938.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Late weakness in Chicago and a let-up in support caused wheat futures prices to slip back in the late trading on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Values at one time were nearly a cent higher, but the last-half reaction erased most of these gains and the close was $\frac{1}{2}$ cent higher, with October at 53 $\frac{1}{2}$, November 55 $\frac{1}{2}$, December 55 $\frac{1}{2}$ and May 58 cents.

A strong display at Liverpool and reports of further high temperature damage to Western Canada's spring wheat crop induced good buying in the first half of the session. Export sales of Canadian wheat were estimated at 300,000 bushels for the day.

Liverpool jumped $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ under the influence of stronger Canadian offers.

Yesterday's country marketings reached 298,000 bushels against 83,000 bushels for the same day a year ago.

Shippers and exporters again gave good support to nearly all grades of cash wheat. Apart from minor barley purchases by export interests, coarse grain operations were uninteresting.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat eased in late trading here today, dipping about $\frac{1}{4}$ cent below yesterday's close after having advanced about a cent a bushel.

Trade was light and easily affected by moderate buying or selling, also affecting the market was uncertainty concerning the government's crop loan program.

Wheat closed unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ lower; September 64 to 64 $\frac{1}{2}$, December 64 to 64 $\frac{1}{2}$; corn $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, September 42 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 42 $\frac{1}{2}$, December 42 to 42 $\frac{1}{2}$; oats unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher.

1 to 3-point Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—It wasn't the heat nor the humidity, but leading stocks wilted 1 to 3 points in today's market.

The list was off minor fractions at the start, with volume about one-half that of yesterday. A flurry of offerings hit the ticker tape after noon. There were subsequent slow-downs and slight recoveries. With the pace lagging in the final dealings, modest recoveries were in evidence here and there at the close. Transfers for the five hours approximated 900,000 shares.

Steels, motors, rubbers, mail orders and specialties were in front of the fade-away. Rails, utilities and coppers held declines to relatively small amounts.

Brokers, as usual, had a number of explanations for the retreat. For one thing, those who follow the charts exhibited a smattering of pessimism because the industrial average has been unable on a number of occasions to penetrate convincingly the July peak. It got through once or twice, but almost immediately fell back.

Foreign affairs again bobbed up as a minor irritant. European markets, though, were quiet and trendless. The fact the London securities exchange will be closed tomorrow through Monday for the bank holiday also was believed to have caused some traders to stand aside.

Principal share losers included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, Du Pont, U.S. Rubbers, Sears-Robuck, Douglas Aircraft, American Smelting and Philip Morris.

Lake Shore slanted lower in the Canadian group while Dome declined ahead. Others, including Dominion 4 in the bond market, were neglected.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

30 Industrials, 141.72, off 2.52

20 Rails, 28.97, off 0.67

15 Utilities, 26.50, off 0.57

40 Bonds, 90.13, off 0.10

SUPPORT LACKING

MONTREAL (CP)—Support was sadly lacking on the stock market late Friday. Light selling depressed Canada Cement and Asbestos while Dominion Bridge and Steel of Canada stepped up a bit. C.P.R. firmed $\frac{1}{4}$ point.

Metals on the losing end included Nickel and Smelters. On the up side were Hudson Bay Mining and Noranda. Near close International Petroleum fell $\frac{1}{4}$ and Imperial Oil $\frac{1}{2}$.

DOWNWARD DRIFT

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto stock market continued its downward drift Friday. Turnover was about 375,000 shares.

Pamour was one of the weakest of the golds. It sold back to 2.10, a new low for more than a year, and the close around 2.15 was off 10 cents net.

The list was spotted, with losses of 3 to 5 cents at the finish. McIntyre held to the upside. Other senior golds were a bit lower.

Losses of $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ chalked up for the senior base metals, including Nickel, Smelters, and Noranda, while Hudson Bay held to a small gain. Silvers were dull and steady.

Action was slow in the western oils with minor losses showing finally for Home Oil, Davies and Okalta.

School Proposed in Connection With Plan to Manufacture Planes Here

Scores of applications, mostly from Victoria but some from as far east as Ontario, awaited M. E. Heiser, British engineer and inventor, when he returned to Victoria yesterday from Seattle and Vancouver, in connection with his proposal to build a factory in the vicinity of Victoria for the manufacture of airplanes.

The Heiscule Aircraft Co. proposed to do everything possible to train Canadian youths in Canada in all branches of aeronautics and it was obvious from the flood of letters he had received in a few days that there must be thousands of young men in the Dominion eager to enter different branches of the airplane industry or to learn flying, he said.

The manufacture of airplanes being highly specialized work, the company would need men specially trained in all branches, Mr. Heiser said. For this purpose the company proposed to establish a school operated along the same lines as those established by other airplane factories.

During his visit to Vancouver Mr. Heiser discussed proposals for a building there suitable for the purpose. R. F. Hardin of De Bois, Pennsylvania, would probably conduct the school.

Ernest Eve, a pioneer of aviation in Victoria, is now associated with Mr. Heiser in establishing the school.

The site for the factory in the vicinity of Victoria, Mr. Heiser said, had not been decided upon. "My idea of values and the price quoted me were far apart in one site we selected as suitable, but there are several other suitable sites which we are considering," he remarked.

In reply to a question regarding the capital of the company, Mr. Heiser said that he had written assurance of $300,000 U.S. capital provided he could get co-operation in Canada and England to raise a similar amount. From the interest shown in the proposal to build the factory near Victoria he anticipated the amount would be raised with little difficulty.

Close of play scores follow: West Indies, 84 and 189; Somerset, 345.

Ocean Air Mail Starts Tomorrow

Flying Boat Caribou Poised to Leave England for Canada

By GUY RHODES
Canadian Press Staff Writer
SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (CP)—A new weekly air mail service linking the United Kingdom, Elre, Newfoundland, Canada and the United States will be launched tomorrow when Capt. J. C. Kelly Rogers lifts the giant flying boat Caribou from Southampton water and heads her westward.

Capt. Rogers and his crew of four will have charge of 25,000 letters, half a ton of mail, on their 34-hour aerial voyage across the seas which John Cabot sailed 461 years ago when he discovered Newfoundland and Nova Scotia.

Inauguration of the new service will give citizens of five countries two weekly flights between the old and new worlds. Imperial Airways flying boats will leave here Saturdays and Pan American Airways clippers will depart Wednesdays during the North Atlantic season.

The Caribou will take off at 2 p.m. B.S.T. (8 a.m. M.S.T.) and reach Foyines, near the mouth of the River Shannon, three hours later. At noon M.S.T. Sunday she will settle at Botwood, Nfld. She will reach Montreal at noon M.S.T. and New York at 4 p.m.

Caribou will be almost four tons heavier when she leaves Foyines than when she arrives, as she will take aboard almost 1,000 gallons of gasoline in the air.

The refueling will be accomplished through hose contact with a converted Harrow bomber. There are "tanker" planes at Shannon airport and Botwood to enable the transoceanic flying boats to take off with higher payloads and fuel in the sky where the additional loads does not handicap them.

Flight refuelling will be carried out at both Foyines and Botwood, but not at Montreal or New York, because the distance between these two points is not great enough to necessitate it. Nor will flight refuelling be practised at Foyines on the homeward flight.

Finley Russell Dies in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Finley Robert McDonald Russell, former chairman of the Vancouver Harbor Board and pioneer British Columbia barrister, died here today after a lengthy illness.

Born in Newcastle, N.B., in 1870, he received his early education in the Harkis Academy there. In 1889, three years after Vancouver's incorporation as a city, Mr. Russell came west and after admission to the bar started a practice with his brother in 1896.

Mr. Russell was appointed only western member of a royal commission to consolidate the statutes of Canada in 1924—a work that required nearly three years.

At the time of his death Mr. Russell was head of the Vancouver law firm of Russell, Russell, DuMoulin and DuMoulin.

Early in his legal career, Mr. Russell associated himself with the Liberal Party. He was active in many sport and service clubs here.

Dinteldyk Met Fog On Coast

Ship Blanketed From Golden Gate to Destruction Island

Fog, deadly enemy of mariners, blanketed the Holland-America Line Ms. Dinteldyk on the final stage of her voyage here from Europe.

"The worst part of the whole trip was after we cleared from San Francisco. The fog stayed with us from the Golden Gate to Destruction Island, but it cleared off the Cape," said Capt. B. Van Beek, master of the Dutch vessel.

The trip out from Rotterdam and London to California was completed under ideal weather conditions. Docking at Pier 1, Rithet docks, at 8 this morning the Dinteldyk discharged 200 tons of general and 350 cases of citrus.

Outward, the vessel loaded 1,500 bundles of barrel staves and heads shipped by Canadian Western Co-operative Limited, and 50 cases of canned loganberries being forwarded to the English market by the B.C. Packers of Sidney.

A big list of passengers arrived aboard the Dinteldyk this trip.

Those disembarking here were Miss W. C. Welch and Mrs. Perkins from London, England; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Blochman and A. D. Lovejoy, all from San Francisco.

For Vancouver were Mrs. M. A. Brandli from Rotterdam, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stuart, Mrs. M. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. W. Wingell, from San Francisco. Mr. Wingell is passenger agent for the Holland-America Line at the Golden Gate port.

Round-trip travelers from California are Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hemus, Miss Edith Cadwell, Mrs. J. R. Taggart, Albert Lees, Miss Edith Davis and Mrs. M. R. Henderson, all of San Francisco.

The Dutch carrier brought 500 tons of general cargo for Vancouver. She proceeded to the mainland port at the noon hour.

Dutch Ms. Dinteldyk, arrived at Rithet Docks from Rotterdam and London, 8 a.m.; sailed for Vancouver, 1 p.m.

Br. Ss. Monkleigh posted to sail from Canadian National docks for Vancouver tonight.

Br. Ss. Aldington Court expected at Canadian National docks from Vancouver early tomorrow.

Around the Docks

500 TO SAIL ON C.P.R. FLAGSHIP

There will be over 500 passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Japan when she clears from Victoria tomorrow evening for the Orient via Hawaii. Of this number some 250 will disembark at Honolulu to enjoy vacations at the Hawaiian playground.

Among the saloon passengers will be Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Ballantyne, one of New York's distinguished families, proceeding to Honolulu; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hall, attorney for the Boston and Maine Railroads at Boston, for Japan; Ralph T. Walker, former president of the American Association of Architects to Yokohama, with Mrs. Walker; and six priests headed by Rev. Thomas Mahoney from St. Louis. They are bound for missionary work in the Orient under the auspices of the Vincentian Foreign Mission Society.

Travelers to Honolulu include: William E. Brill, export manager for the Elgin Watch Company, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Weeks, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bridwell and Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Weeks, prominent oil families of Fort Worth, Texas; and F. H. Brownell, chairman of the board of directors of the American Smelting and Refining Company, New York, with Mrs. Brownell.

Lumber Fleet

When she completes stowing 520,000 feet of lumber at the Canadian National docks late today, British freighter Monkleigh, Capt. J. A. Jeffrey, which reached here yesterday afternoon from Barry, Wales, will clear for Vancouver to complete her lumber cargo for the United Kingdom.

Two Court Line ships will be here over the week-end, it was announced this morning by Henry King of King Bros.

Aldington Court is expected at Ogden Point tomorrow morning, and Tilington Court will be here Sunday. Both are United Kingdom lumber charters.

Freighter Chios is due at Cowichan Bay tomorrow morning from Englewood.

Bird Trapped in Roof

The flight of a kingfisher, frightened by the noise of cargo-handling activity on the Dinteldyk, was this morning diverted into the warehouse of Pier 1, Rithet Docks.

Unless it is caught and released, it will probably be imprisoned indefinitely and may die, although the warehouse doors were wide open.

It flew helplessly from end to end of the warehouse roof, ignoring the gaping apertures leading to freedom below.

"They never come down," said a dock official, recalling other incidents of the kind.

Quarantine Chief Here

Dr. Chester P. Brown, chief medical officer of the Department of Pensions and National Health and administrator of quarantine and sick mariners' regulations, who has been inspecting William Head quarantine station, has just left for Ottawa via Vancouver.

Dr. Brown, who was medical officer at William Head up to March, 1933, when he received his present appointment, was identified with the quarantine station here for some 25 years.

He is on his way back east from San Francisco, where he addressed the Pacific Science Congress.

SCHOONER FIRE SENT CREW ADRIFT

LIVERPOOL, N.S. (CP)—The captain and four members of the crew of the schooner Fahl landed here today in a dory and reported that their lumber-laden vessel had burned about eight miles off this south shore port.

Capt. Sylvestre Dunphy said the Fahl, registered at North Sydney, N.S., was a total loss.

The fire broke out late last night when the vessel's oil engines backfired. With the schooner's decks ablaze, the men jumped into a dory and rowed ashore.

A month ago the vessel figured in the rescue of the crew of a French bark cast adrift off the coast of Newfoundland in a similar way. The Fahl sighted the blazing Notre Dame Dourne and picked up the French craft's 37 crew members.

Prusoff Bows Out of Southampton Tennis; Riggs Extended By Hunt

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP)—Bobby Riggs led the way into the semifinals of both singles and doubles in the Meadow Club's annual invitation tennis tournament yesterday, but the unpredictable Chicagoan had to fight hard to overcome Joe Hunt in the individual competition.

With Riggs into the round-of-four of the singles marched Sidney Wood, the former Wimbledon champion; Ernie Sutter of New Orleans, and Bob Kamrath of Austin, Texas.

Hunt staged a rally in the third set that forced the No. 1 United States Davis Cup hopeful to go all out to win 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Kamrath advanced by default over Henry Prusoff of Seattle.

Wood defeated George Toley of Los Angeles 6-4, 6-2, while Sutter topped Bob Peacock of Berkeley, Calif., 5-7, 6-2, 6-2.
